

REMUS SAYS KILLING OF WIFE "JUSTIFIED" AND DUTY TO SOCIETY

FORMER BOOTLEG KING NOW READY TO FACE JURORS

Mrs. Remus Is Shot to Death by Husband as She Leaps From Car in Eden Park.

DENIES DEFENSE WILL BE INSANITY

Remus Declares That He Feels He Has Committed No Moral Wrong in Killing Wife.

Cincinnati, October 6.—(AP)—To forestall any insanity plea by George Remus, who today shot and killed his wife as the result of incidents leading up to her divorce suit, County Prosecutor Charles P. Taft has ordered Dr. W. C. Kendig, Hamilton county alienist, to interview the prisoner and form his own conclusions regarding whether Remus was insane at the time of the killing.

"They think I am insane. Well, I'm not half as crazy as some of those who think I am, said Remus today. "I am entirely responsible for the act I committed. Of course every act of this sort is committed under great mental stress and in the precise moment, perhaps the mind is somewhat deranged but complete sanity returns immediately after."

"I shall make no defense of insanity. I feel that I was justified in doing what I did. I owed this to society. My fate will be in the hands of 12 men and I will abide by their decision."

A reporter told Remus that, "no doubt you had this all planned. It."

SCHOOL GASOLINE BLAST KILLS TWO

Boy Strikes Match Over Abandoned Tank and Explosion Follows at Tarboro; Two Hurt.

Rocky Mount, N. C., October 6.—(AP)—A match, thoughtlessly tossed by one of the victims into an abandoned gasoline tank at the Pine Top school in Edgemont county, this afternoon caused an explosion which claimed the lives of two children and inflicted injuries of undetermined seriousness upon two others.

The dead are Lilly Treathan, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Treathan, who was killed instantly, and Douglas Treathan, her 11-year-old brother.

Douglas Treathan's arm and leg were blown off and he died in a Tarboro hospital early tonight, paying with his life for the care-free tossing of the match.

Lawrence Gardner, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Gardner, also is in a Tarboro hospital with serious injuries and George Ross, Jr., is under medical treatment at the home of his parents. Both received injuries in the terrific blast.

George Remus Plans To Represent Himself

Cincinnati, October 6.—(AP)—George Remus, former alleged bootlegger king, who shot and killed his wife today, tonight announced he would act as his own attorney when he is brought to trial on the first-degree murder charge.

Remus made the announcement at police headquarters tonight, where he received newspaper reporters following an examination as to his sanity. He formerly practiced law in Chicago.

LINDY COMMITTEE ASKS CLEAR FIELD

Tour Managers Say Atlanta Stop Will Be Abandoned if Crowds Over-run Barriers.

Cincinnati, October 6.—(AP)—Coincident with issuance Thursday of a proclamation by Governor L. G. Hardman setting aside Tuesday as "Lindbergh Day" in Georgia, a virtual ultimatum came from managers of the Lindbergh tour stating that if crowds insist on overrunning the field, the air hero will be forced to abandon his stop in Atlanta because of the possibility of bodily harm to himself as well as to the "Spirit of St. Louis."

The formal statement issued Thursday by Lindbergh headquarters in the city hall follows:

"Canfield field is being placed in condition to handle as many as 100,000 people and will undoubtedly want to go out and see Lindbergh make his landing. Acres of space are being conditioned for automobile parking space, and boundary fences are being erected to keep the people off the landing space. The public has been warned by a statement direct from Colonel Lindbergh, now in Birmingham, that should he circle the field and find the crowd unmanageable or out on the landing space that regardless of elaborate reception plans, he will simply circle the field and fly on to the next city on the program without stopping."

"Upon landing, the special car will pose for a few newspaper photographs and then immediately start to Atlanta via College Park and East Point. From there, the special car will proceed via an undetermined route to Atlanta and the parade will start at Whitehall and the junction of Forsyth and Spring, thence as per announcement."

"Colonel Lindbergh lands on Canfield field at 2 p. m. and is always exactly on time. The advance plane, a Fairchild monoplane, painted a dark red, comes in about 40 minutes ahead. The plane carries Lieutenant Love, the pilot, and Donald Keyhoe, the representative of the Guggenheim fund. Colonel Lindbergh's plane, a Ryan monoplane, is a bright silver hue and easily recognized. He will circle the field, land and immediately taxi into the hangar of Doug Davis, which has been especially set aside for the day. After shaking hands with the mayor, the governor and the senators he will immediately enter his car and be driven along the boundary line of people on the field and thence to Atlanta."

Plans for Landing.

"When Colonel Lindbergh arrives he will fly high and circle over Atlanta a few minutes before 2 p. m. He will then fly to the field and circle and thence to Atlanta."

CHARGES WIFE'S PLOT WITH DRY AGENT LAID HERE

Slayer Scouted Reports of Divorce Action by Wife When Liberated Two Years Ago.

PROMISED TO BAN CRIME FOREVER

"King" Remus Planned Lecture Tour to Take Up Cudgels for Law and Order.

BY HERMAN D. HANCOCK.

"Does crime pay?" When George Remus, "Cincinnati bootleg king" and former inmate of the federal prison here, shot his wife to death Thursday he wrote a dramatic answer to his own question—one that was the outgrowth originally of a gigantic rum-running ring and which involved, according to Remus, a plot between his wife and the man who put him behind prison bars, to keep him a prisoner while they squandered the vast fortune he had accumulated.

The conspiracy, according to charges by Remus, was hatched at a hotel in Atlanta, where the beautiful Mrs. Remus and Franklin L. Dodge, Jr., former special investigator for the department of justice, became intimate and, so Remus charged, staged gay parties with the ill-gotten wealth of the rum-running king.

In contrast with his desperate act of Thursday, Remus, upon his liberation from the Atlanta federal penitentiary on September 2, 1925, disavowed reports of divorce action taken by Mrs. Remus, and announced he was through forever with bootlegging activities, which made him the czar of an illicit traffic in the middle west. Rather, he would take the platform on a lecture tour of the country and tell others to shun the ways of crime. He would throw the weight of his influence into the breach to preserve law and order and use the millions he had amassed in running rum in showing men the "folly of crime."

Praises Wife.

Despite praise of his wife on leaving the prison after she had filed a divorce suit, precipitating the marital tangle which caused her death, it was a disillusioned George who Thursday pressed the muzzle of his automatic against his wife and snuffed out her life.

When he left the prison, the formal statement which he released to the press, but which had been prepared before knowledge of the divorce action.

Peaches Gone, 'Daddy' Finds Another Girl

Bobbed Brunette Is New Influence Now Shaping Browning's Career.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

New York, October 6.—(AP)—With the record of his legal victory over "Peaches" Heenan, not quite dry on the books, Edward West ("Daddy") Browning, rich realtor, has started on a fresh career.

A new influence has come into Daddy's life—an influence that promises to wean him away from the chimney corner where he has cozily hidden since he gave Ma Heenan and her chubby daughter, Frances, a beating in marital relations court.

She is a bobbed brunette, this new apple of Daddy's eye, a show girl, and a good dancer, and answers to the name of Florence Everett. Daddy danced 13 spins with her last night at a shindig put on in the Hotel Des Artistes.

Today Daddy floundered a bit verbally when asked what his intentions were concerning Miss Everett.

"Why—why—why—er—she's just a nice girl, and I like her," he said. "But, of course, she's only a good friend—nothing more—only a good friend."

But tomorrow at the Majestic Hotel Daddy will enter the lists once more. This time it will be the Convivial club affair—and Miss Everett will be there also. Daddy said so himself today.

"There is one thing I wish to deny," Daddy said today, "and that is that I have hired a man to map out my parties and to take me home. I'm well able to fix my own parties."

HUGGINS' TEAM 2 GAMES AHEAD

Scene Shifts to New York, Where Two Teams Meet at Polo Grounds Today in Third Tilt of Series.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Pittsburgh, Pa., October 6.—A new name and a new face came up out of the ranks today for a place alongside of those whose world's series deeds live in memory.

Not unlike Joe Bush, of Minnesota, who rose up from nowhere to stem the rush of the Giants in the fall of 1913, came George Phipps, also from Minnesota, this afternoon on Forbes field.

Overlooked in the advance reckoning, considered only a possibility in the event the Yankees became desperate, the big Dane responded to the unexpected call with a fast ball that carried a "trusion" in its path, and the proud Pirates, unable to launch even the semblance of a protected attack, tumbled and stumbled to ignominious defeat before the American leaguers in the second conflict for world's series loot. The score was 6 to 2, and the marauding Yanks now are two laps ahead as the struggle veers toward their own battleground.

Behind Phipps and the fast ball that dazzled the Pirates came that dreaded Yankee attack. It was absent yesterday, but today it appeared in all its fury and splendor. It carried away Vic Aldridge like a wind-carried peanut shell, and the Pirate cry that you could stop the Huggins with a curve ball has been revised to read, "You can't stop 'em with anything."

Pirates Hoped Shortlived.

For the Pirates the battle might just as well have started and ended with the first inning. A long hit by one of those Warner boys blossomed into a run, and the 41,000 jammed around the arena thought they smelled victory, but after that they smelled only the dust raised by a stampede of Yank runners in the third, when three scored, and again in the eighth, when Aldridge collapsed completely and vanished in the midst of another three-run sortie.

With their favorites whipped, even Firing Squads Are Busy Throughout Mexico But Revolutionary Movement Continues.

GOVERNMENT ASKS FUNDS FOR FIGHT

General Alfredo Quijano Says "Goodbye" to Reporters and Then Dies With Smile.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

The staccato roll of the firing squad continues to echo through Mexico, but despite summary retribution exacted by the government, reports from many points indicate a continuance of revolutionary movements.

General Alfredo Quijano, commander of cavalry in the Mexico City garrison, was taken Wednesday virtually from the courtroom chamber in which he was convicted, to face a firing squad. In Morelos, thirteen members of the state legislature were shot as sympathizers with the Gomez-Serrano revolt.

Calls Made for Cash.

Dispatches to the American border announce that the Mexican treasury had called upon fiscal agents throughout the republic to transfer available funds to the capital to meet the increased expenses of military operations.

Mexican naval vessels at Vera Cruz prepared yesterday to depart for an unannounced mission.

Railroad rolling stock has been concentrated around Vera Cruz, for use of the federal military in operations toward Orizaba, indicating a new focal point of unrest there and disruption of traffic on the Mexican railway has been heightened by the incursion of a rebel group of Paso Naccho.

The fate of General Arnulfo Gomez, chief of the rebels since the execution of General Francisco Serrano, remains undetermined definitely, but all reports indicated that he still was in the field.

Rebels Join Forces.

General Arnulfo Gomez and General Almadia, former commander of the Mexico City garrison, are reported to have joined forces—estimated at about 1,500 men—near Perote in the state of Vera Cruz. Much larger forces of government troops are advancing upon them. An engagement is expected at any moment.

MURDER OF PHYSICIAN IS CHARGED TO BEACH AND MRS. LILLIENDAHL

Chickens and Hogs Give Ear To These Impelling Voices

Miss Kate Gilstrap, left, is the champion chicken caller of Georgia, while J. C. Branch, upper right, heeded the state's best hog callers in competition at the Southeastern Fair.

BY BILL SHIPPEN.

Georgia's chicken-calling housewives know how to summon their poultry.

But it took a comely flapper to worst the matrons at their own game. She is Miss Kate Gilstrap, from down Swannee, Ga., and her cry of "chick-chick-chick-a-see" brought the whole flock tumbling in great haste.

Sirens of the henyard did their worst, but none could equal Miss Gilstrap's record. The occasion was the Southeastern fair.

And it isn't as simple to summon a hog to his dinner as it might seem to the layman.

To call the porker in an expert manner, as demonstrated by J. C. Branch, East Lake winner of the letter event, the following fine points must be borne in mind:

In the first place the call must be untrammelled, since pigs stray far afield at times.

Then it should be couched in impelling tones, for the swine may be browsing in verdant pastures—the neighbor's truck patch, say.

And, most important of all, the pig-yodel must be free of any ulterior suggestion, since the wily porker, from long experience with sausage grinders, is prone to suspect all human motives.

Mr. Branch's supremacy of the wood-lot and pasture won him a $5 gold piece, while the queen of the henhouse was awarded a like trophy.

Runners-up in the chicken calling were John Harlow, of Griffin, and G. W. Coggins, of Madras, Ga., and Mrs. S. D. O'Kelly, of Lawrenceville, and Mrs. Aileen Hogan, of Fairburn. The Southeastern fair, which is the largest of its kind in the South, is now in progress.

WIDOW OF VICTIM HELD ON WARRANT; BEACH GIVES UP

Arrest of Woman Taken as Indication That Grand Jury Will Return Indictments.

THREE WITNESSES IDENTIFY BEACH

Detective Claims Prisoner Pawned Two Rings Believed to Have Been Doctor's Property.

BY FRANK DOLAN.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Mays Landing, N. J., October 6.—Two warrants were sworn out shortly after 10 o'clock tonight charging both Mrs. Margaret Thompson Lilliendahl, 42, and Willets Beach, 55, with murder.

The lovers are now formally charged with having killed 72-year-old Dr. A. William Lilliendahl in a swamp lane, four miles outside of Hammonton, on the afternoon of September 15.

The warrants were sworn out at the request of Chief County Detective Frank J. Harrold, after the Atlantic county grand jury had heard more than 50 witnesses today in a session which lasted 12 hours, adjourning at 10 o'clock tonight to reconvene at 9:30 o'clock Friday morning.

Indictments Denied.

No indictments have been returned. Chief Harrold insisted, but his request of Justice of the Peace Andrew Gillespie for warrants is construed to mean that the indictments, if not already found, will be forthcoming tomorrow.

Mrs. Lilliendahl was lodged in the Atlantic county jail late tonight, a fellow guest of her alleged trusting mate, who surrendered himself to Captain William Carter and Troopers Woodward and Aggar at 7:30 o'clock Thursday morning. He had been missing for 10 days, a fugitive from justice. A material witness at liberty under $5,000 bail, he was sought as an accomplice, charged with "aiding and abetting in the murder."

Request for the warrant is tantamount to an expression of doubt of the story told by Mrs. Lilliendahl that her feeble husband was slain by two negro highwaymen. It amounts to a vindication of the long-held theory of the investigators that Mrs. Lilliendahl conceived the story of the negro thugs to shield her chicken-fancier sweetheart.

It means that the enigmatic widow and her silver-haired friend over whom she and her aged husband quarreled in all probability will face a jury of 12 men to prove that their admitted clandestine meetings and reported affection for each other were not the inspiration for the murder plot.

It establishes Mrs. Lilliendahl as a suspected second Ruth Snyder, an accused accomplice in the slaying of her legal

TRIAL OF JORDAN MAY END TODAY

Columbus Pastor Weeps Loudly as Life-Story Is Told to Jury in Bigamy Hearing.

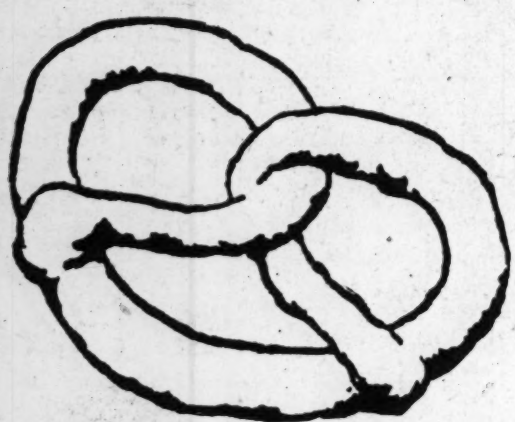

Charlotte, October 6.—(AP)—Laughing repeatedly yesterday during the reading of fevile love notes, alleged written by him to one of his reputed wives, the Rev. Willis T. Jordan, on trial in Mecklenburg superior court here on charges of bigamy, today wept loudly as the story of his early life struggles and privations was told the jury, which probably late tomorrow will decide his fate.

The courtroom scene, today was little changed from that of yesterday, except for introduction of several new angles of testimony, punctuated by audible sobs from the Columbus, Ga., minister, who twice appeared on the verge of a complete breakdown.

A plea that "this poor old grey-haired man with bent shoulders and a faulty mind" be allowed to "go back to Virginia to his wife and boy, whom he has owned, and who will nurse him

Securities Men Name Ostrem President as Meeting Ends

Louis Ostrem, of Des Moines, director of the Iowa Securities commission, was elected president of the National Association of Securities Commissioners at the closing session of its tenth annual convention Thursday. A resolution was adopted calling for an investigation by a committee of the organization of general market, industrial and investment trust securities.

Describing as a "great forward step," the association's investigation last year of the first mortgage bond business, the resolution called attention to investment trust securities, a comparatively new type of security which has been offered to the public in vast quantities during the past year, and expressed the belief that the organization "should complete its work by making a thorough investigation of all types of securities including so-called general market securities and industrial securities."

The president was authorized by the measure to appoint a committee to make the inquiry.

Another resolution adopted called upon stock exchanges to require from industries listing their stock for public sale quarterly reports "which will reflect the true financial condition and earnings of such industries" for the best interests of both the investing public and the companies issuing the securities.

A third measure urged the various groups forming the association to draft legislation designed to prevent fraud in the sale of securities through interstate commerce, pointing out that proposals on this subject heretofore introduced in congress had not met with the organization's unanimous approval. Delegates said this resolution put the association on record as opposed to the Denison securities bill, introduced at the last congressional session by Representative E. E. Denison, of Illinois.

Other officers elected were: Jesse V. Craig, of Lincoln, chief of the Nebraska bureau of securities, first vice president; R. C. Clark, Montpelier, commissioner of insurance and banking of Vermont, second vice president; R. A. McNellis, Nashville, deputy in charge of securities of the Tennessee commission of banking and insurance, secretary-treasurer. Salt Lake City, Des Moines and Seattle were bidders for the next convention. The selection will be announced later.

HAROLD HAMMOND NEW TRIAL DENIED

Motion for a new trial for Harold Hammond, under sentence of death in the electric chair for the murder on February 4 of Mrs. Lottie Belle

HAROLD HAMMOND

Ingram, was denied Thursday afternoon by Judge John S. Wood, of the Blue Ridge circuit, who presided at the trial in Fulton county.

The amended motion was overruled following a lengthy conference Thursday afternoon between Solicitor General John A. Boykin, Judge Wood and Carl Lancaster, Atlanta attorney, who represented Hammond. Notice was immediately given by Attorney Lancaster that he would appeal the ruling to the higher courts.

Hammond was originally sentenced to pay the extreme penalty in the electric chair at the state prison farm in Milledgeville on August 5. A skeleton motion was filed and hearings scheduled before Judge Wood in Marietta. Several postponements came, however, as the result of the late filing of the amended motion.

In addition to being charged with the slaying of Mrs. Ingram, Hammond is under indictment for the murder of Floyd Ingram, infant son of Mrs. Ingram. The bodies of the mother and baby were found in a bed in the Ingram home on Ashby street by the husband and father when he returned home early on the morning of February 4.

A flatiron found lying near the blood-saturated body of the woman disclosed the method employed in her murder. A cloth which was found in the tender neck of the infant indicated that his life had been snuffed out by the assassin in order that any cries might not attract neighbors to the scene.

The amended motion for the new trial was based on three major alleged errors. Defense counsel asked the court to give their client a new trial on the grounds that Hammond was convicted on June 16 on evidence that was purely circumstantial and insufficient to warrant such a verdict.

The court erred in dismissing the jury immediately following the return of the verdict which did not carry with it a recommendation for mercy, before defense counsel had the chance to poll the jury, the amended motion averred.

A new trial was also requested on the ground that Solicitor Boykin in making his argument to the jury asserted that Hammond was a prisoner and should not be allowed to go into an ante-room of the court room with his wife, mother and baby and have his picture taken by newspaper photographers. This argument was prejudicial to their client and improper, the counsel contended.

WAR DEPARTMENT
SELECTS GEORGIA
HONOR STUDENTS

In a war department bulletin just received at fourth corps area headquarters at Fort McPherson, 35 young men from distinguished colleges and honor military schools of the corps area were named as honor graduates.

Young men so designated in Georgia schools for excellence in military training and scholastic standing were as follows:

From Georgia School of Technology, Atlanta, Ga.: James A. Banton, Paul M. Edwards, Homer D. Fincher, Augustus W. Gunn, Willis P. Lanier, Frank G. Marshall and Jonathan F. Nicholl.

From Georgia Military academy, College Park, Ga.: Dan Gilmer, Aubrey B. Hutchinson and St. Elmo M. Massengale, Jr.

From Riverside Military academy, Gainesville, Ga.: Neil C. Berry, Franklin P. Langbehn and Edward M. Lowe.

Designation as an honor graduate of a distinguished college or an honor military school carries with it the privilege of commission in the regular army or appointment to the United States Military academy without mental examination, if vacancies permit.

SOUTHERN ALUMNI
COUNCILLORS MEET
HERE ON SATURDAY

Members of the American Alumni council, representing leading colleges and universities in Georgia, North and South Carolina, Florida and Virginia, will hold the first regional conference of district three here Saturday. Meetings will be held at the Ansley hotel, with Richard E. Thigpen, of Duke university, director of district three, presiding.

Delegates to the conference will hear an address by "Dean" Wilfred R. Shaw, president of the American Alumni council, associated with the University of Michigan and of national reputation in educational circles.

Visitors will be welcomed by Miss Polly Stone, of Agnes Scott college. Speakers of the day who will discuss phases of alumni organization and work will include "Dean" Shaw, Miss Clara Byrd, of the North Carolina College for Women; A. J. Hanna, of Rollins college; Tyre Taylor, of the University of North Carolina; W. H. Waneck, of the University of Virginia; V. B. Kemp, of Washington and Lee; Miss Jeanne Layall, of Wesleyan college; R. J. Thiesen, of Georgia Tech, and R. E. Thigpen, of Duke university.

Conference members will attend the Georgia Tech-Tulane football game Saturday afternoon immediately following the after-lunch session.

NEW YORK MILLS TO OPERATE HERE

Consolidation of two big textile mills of Syracuse, New York, with the Lullwater Mills, of East Point, with the general offices of the combined mills to be located in Atlanta, was announced Thursday by L. W. Robert, Atlanta textile engineer. The machinery of the two Syracuse mills will be moved to Atlanta and a huge modern plant to manufacture nationally advertised knit underwear will be equipped at East Point, it was announced.

This is the second big industrial announcement for Atlanta made in the last week. The first being the statement that the General Motors company will build a $2,250,000 Chevrolet plant here.

Walter T. Candler, Atlanta capitalist, is head of the consolidated companies, which will be known as the Oak Knitting Mills of Georgia. The mills located at Syracuse and Arcade, N. Y., were operated by the Oak Knitting Mills of New York. The company will continue to manufacture the nationally advertised products of the Oak company, which are "Griffit," "Gymtex" and "Wintrex" brands of underwear. The consolidation of these companies with the Lullwater company means an immediate reorganization which will bring A. G. Velasco, of Syracuse, into the consolidation as president and O. J. Purnell, of Syracuse, vice president and superintendent.

Details of the deal under which the three big textile mills were consolidated were handled by the firm of Caldwell and company, of Nashville, Tenn., according to the announcement of Mr. Robert. The consolidated company will have a capital stock of $1,500,000.

It is planned by the consolidated company to dismantle the two mills in New York and to re-equip the Lullwater plant and enlarge it to the extent that it will be one of the largest mills of its kind in the country. The mill will provide steady employment for 500 people, according to Mr. Robert. Mr. Velasco and Mr. Purnell are two of the best known men in the knitting mill industry and they will devote their personal attention to the refitting and enlargement of the Lullwater plants.

24 Foreigners, Caught at Fair, To Be Deported

Federal machinery of deportation has been set in motion following the grilling of 24 alleged aliens held by immigration authorities as the result of a round-up conducted at the Southeastern fair. The prisoners are being detained at the city police station pending the arrival of deportation warrants from Washington.

Statements have been taken from all of the 24, who claim foreign birth. The prisoners are of seven nationalities, French, Italian, German, Irish, English, Scotch and Rumanian, and all were smuggled into this country from Canada, investigation by Immigration Inspector J. H. McVay revealed. Interpreters were necessary to take the statements of some of the prisoners. Acting on information received by the local immigration officers, Mr. McVay was on hand at the arrival of the Zeidman-Pollie shows at the fair, and within a few days rounded up 23 men and one girl as alleged aliens.

Among the alleged aliens is the son of an Indian chief, Bill Commander, a French-Indian, whose father is chief of a Canadian tribe. Another of the prisoners is William Woodley, 17, who claims to have been a wait picked up in England by the Salvation Army.

ATLANTA POSTOFFICE
RECEIPTS INCREASE

Washington, October 6.—(AP)—September postal receipts at the 50 selected cities showed an increase of only 59 per cent as compared with September, 1926. Postmaster General New stated today. Total receipts were $30,152,176. Memphis led with an increase of 21.89 per cent; Jersey City second with 15.77 and Dayton, Ohio, third with 15.58.

Twenty-one of the 50 cities showed decreases, including Chicago, Boston and St. Louis.

Increases in southern cities were: Washington, D. C., 5.29; Atlanta, Ga., 3.71; Dallas, 5.54; Louisville, 6.43; Richmond, Va., 4.26; Memphis, 21.89; Nashville, Tenn., 6.71; Houston, 7.75; and Fort Worth, 6.15. Decreases were shown at Baltimore, 3.64 per cent; New Orleans, 3.11; and Jacksonville, 16.85.

SATILLA RIVER SPAN
OPENED AT WOODBINE

St. Marys, Ga., October 6.—(Special.)—The formal opening of the bridge over the Satilla river was celebrated at Woodbine yesterday with a big barbecue and basket dinner, talks from prominent men from Georgia and Florida. In the evening a dance was held. A band from Brunswick made music throughout the day and at the dance in the evening.

The new Satilla bridge replaces an old wooden toll bridge formerly serving the motoring public on the Atlantic Coastal highway, and its completion marks the passing of the last toll span on the road between Washington and Florida.

Motorcades from Jacksonville, Fla., from Brunswick, Waycross, Kingsland and St. Marys attended this opening.

Piedmont Road
Extension Plan
Given Setback

Washington, October 6.—(AP)—An adverse recommendation was made today to the interstate commerce commission on the entire project of the Piedmont and Northern railroad to build 128 miles of new line along the South Carolina-North Carolina border. A commission examiner, Haskell C. Davis, assigned to investigate the Piedmont company's proposals and the protests of steam railroad lines against the extensions, advised the commission to reject the Piedmont application completely on the ground that its new construction is unnecessary, not in the public interest and likely to be harmful to established transportation interests.

One of the extensions planned by the Piedmont company runs from Spartanburg to Gastonia, 55 miles, and a second runs from Charlotte to Winston-Salem, a distance of 75 miles. The Southern railroad and other carriers protested that the line was unnecessary and further asserted that the Duke Power interests controlling the Piedmont company desired to build the railroad largely for the purpose of controlling traffic. Mr. Davis held justified all of the protests and declared that "the projected extensions present a rather extraordinary case of paralleling existing lines."

The Piedmont company contended that it had projected its extension prior to the passage of the act under which the commission controls railroad construction and that further an electric interurban railroad it was not under commission supervision. Both of these claims were held invalid by the examiner's ruling.

DEFOREST WINS
IN RADIO ACTION

Philadelphia, October 6.—(United News.)—Dr. Lee Deforest, scientist and inventor, today was designated original inventor of the radio feed back circuit and the oscillating audion, in a decision handed down by the United States court of appeals, here and in Wilmington, Del.

The decision marked the end of a long battle with the United States government and two corporations. It overruled government contentions that Alexander Meissner, German inventor, had developed the feed back and audion, and claims of the Westinghouse and General Electric companies that the discoveries were made by Major Edwin H. Armstrong and Irving Langmuir, respectively.

The four claimants had been in litigation for several years. Dr. Deforest has won four decisions, and today's opinion indicates that he may be victorious in the United States supreme court, if appeals are taken there.

Judge Victor B. Woolley handed down today's opinion, concurred in by Judges Buffington and Davis.

Judge Woolley held that evidence showed Deforest working upon the possibilities of audion as early as August 1912, earlier than the date claimed by any of the other claimants. Each of the claimants was seeking rights to the discoveries, to the exclusion of the others.

Had the decision been in favor of any of the other three claimants, heavy arrears for patent royalties against Deforest would have been pressed.

CONFERENCE DEMANDS
ENFORCEMENT OF LAW

Atlantic City, N. J., October 6.—(AP)—A call to mobilize public conscience for the enforcement of all law was sounded in a statement approved today by a conference of 75 leaders in business and sociological worlds at the concluding session. The conference was called by Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, of New York city, and a member of distinguished colleagues. The committee which prepared the statement consisted of Dr. Daniel A. Poling, of New York, chairman; Mrs. Henry W. Peabody, of Boston; Dr. William H. Foulkes, Newark, N. J.; N. M. Rodefer, Bellaire, Ohio; the Rev. J. Curran, Wilkesbarre, Pa.; and Fred D. Smith, Dr. John R. Mott, Canon Charles K. Gilbert, Harry N. Holmes and Carlton M. Sherwood, of New York.

months, it was announced Thursday by Frank Kempton, commander. The program will be rendered at the regular weekly luncheon at the Henry Grady hotel at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Miss Mildred Arnold and Miss Maxine Judd are in charge of entertainment arrangements, and one of the special selections will be a Spanish dance by Miss Mary (Spiller) Martini. Miss Arnold is one of the city's leading dancing instructors, and Miss Judd and Miss Martini are two of her star students.

Matters of a routine nature will be transacted during the business session of the luncheon.

Asa Warren Candler, commander of the Georgia department, announced that a meeting of post commanders, adjutants, auxiliary heads, directors and committee chairmen will be held Sunday at the Dempsey hotel, Macon. The conference will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning. About 100 will attend.

ATLANTA-FULTON
COUNTY TEACHERS
WILL MEET TODAY

The Atlanta-Fulton county unit of the Georgia Educational association will meet this afternoon at the Baptist Tabernacle at 3 o'clock. The membership of this unit, which is the largest single unit of the G. E. A. in the state, is composed of 1,000 teachers of the grammar schools, high schools and colleges in Atlanta and Fulton county.

Dr. Sam W. Small, of The Constitution, will be the principal speaker. Jere A. Wells, superintendent of Fulton county schools, who is a member of the association, is also president of the state association and will be present and speak.

The state association will meet in Atlanta next April and will bring to the city the largest assembly of school teachers ever convened in the city.

Professor W. J. Scott of the Boys' High school is president of the unit and will preside at the meeting this afternoon.

Free Employment Service Offered by Chest Agency

Free employment service, effective in finding work for 3,285 persons in Atlanta in the first seven months of 1927—for more than 6,000 in 1926—with an economic saving this year of nearly $200,000 that might have been charged in fees to employers and applicants by private bureaus, was pointed out Thursday as one detail of constructive and helpful activity in many fields by agencies operating in connection with the Atlanta Community Chest.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsion of cod liver oil, which is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creomulsion is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to cod liver oil, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creomulsion goes on to the stomach and is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist—(adv.)

izing the services of "pay" employment offices, and likely otherwise to have been helpless and hopeless.

The work was described by Roy LeCraw, president, and Joseph P. McGrath, secretary, of the Community Employment service, as of inestimable value in promoting community production and income, besides the moral reconstruction, character development and human helpfulness which was brought about.

So effective has the work of this agency proved that its work has been recognized by the United States department of labor, which pays the salaries of two placement clerks—one in charge of school employment, and the other handling the employment of negro applicants. Cator Woolford, one of the founders of the free employment service, has been designated as federal director for Georgia of the department of labor, and Secretary McGrath, as special agent and acting federal director of the department.

Many hundreds of those for whom work was found were partially or wholly dependent upon the charity of relief agencies supported by the Community Chest. In this way the work made independent, and the burden of their support was lifted from the charity organization. The money available for social and welfare work thus goes farther and becomes more effective.

The Community Employment service was established several years ago by Cator Woolford, George S. Harris, Robert Grege and other employers, as a means of helping the employer and to remove the job seeker from the abuse of certain employment offices which, operating on fees, were said by these founders to seek profit rather than service. After several years the Masonic fraternity endorsed the work and the name of the organization became the Consolidated Employment service, with Mr. Woolford as president and Mr. McGrath as secretary.

The service became identified with the Community Chest in 1925.

Since the absorption of the free employment offices, the bureau has also established a contact with the Georgia College Placement bureau, and now has particularly competent facilities for handling all classes of applicants, from the day laborer to the executive. All the activities of the bureau, with the exception of the colored service, which is maintained at the Colored Y. M. C. A. building, are now centralized in the offices at 283 1/2 Peachtree street, where a force of seven people look after the wants of the employer and the registrant.

The Community Employment service is offered as follows: Roy LeCraw, president; George S. Harris, vice president; Kendall Weisger, treasurer, and J. P. McGrath, secretary.

INDUSTRIAL DIVISION PLANS ACTIVE DRIVE

Every employed Atlantan, man and woman, will be given an opportunity to support the constructive helpfulness of the Community Chest and its associated agencies in the chest campaign, which opens October 21, according to C. M. (Count) Boyer, general of the industrial division of the campaign organization.

Mr. Boyer, announcing Thursday the completion of his group of colonels, who will establish contact with executives of more than 75 industrial establishments employing thousands of men and women, said the main objective of the campaign will be to enlist universal support of the Community Chest and its purposes of human welfare and development.

"There is no doubt that everybody will give and give gladly," he said, "to the cause of humanity as represented by the Community Chest, when the real story and significance of that cause and when the opportunity to give is presented to him."

"It will be our object then, first of all, to show that universal participation in the work of the Community Chest is necessary for the highest moral and spiritual values of the work, as well as for its concrete effectiveness. Cooperation of all our people, even before the acquisition of funds, is the thing mainly to be desired, because cooperation begets sympathy."

The colonels who will serve under Mr. Boyer in the industrial division are George T. Marchmont, James Cassidy, Joe McCubbin, Walter Powell, H. M. Powell, Roy Booker, R. H. Givens, W. C. Wilson, J. H. Hale, Parks Rispale and Jim Ingram. This group will enlist in every concern the service of a "key man," who shall organize the employees and assemble their contributions.

AIR EXPRESS SERVICE EXTENSION PREDICTED

New York, October 6.—(P)—Extension of air express service in the south was forecast today in an announcement by the American Railway Express company that President R. E.

ROBERT E. M. COWIE.

M. Cowie is en route to Atlanta for a conference with business men.

Atlanta, Birmingham, and other southern cities are requested to be made stopping points in a general system connecting the south with the transcontinental routes, according to the announcement, and the subject will be considered by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce and other organizations.

COWIE TO ADDRESS CHAMBER NEXT WEDNESDAY

An address on express service by airplane will be delivered before the chamber of commerce next Wednesday by Robert E. M. Cowie, of New York, president of the American Railway Express company. The company began a few weeks ago the actual operation of air express service, crossing the continent from New York to the Pacific coast.

Mr. Cowie will be the speaker at the first autumn luncheon of the forum committee of the chamber of commerce, James A. Holloman, associate editor of The Constitution, is chairman of the forum committee.

LARGE CROWDS VISIT HIGH MUSEUM OF ART

Large crowds daily visit the exhibition of pictures and sculpture now showing at the High Museum of Art, on Peachtree at Fifteenth street, by the Associated Dealers in American Paintings, of New York. Opening Sunday, the exhibition will remain here for all October, being open daily between 10 and 5:30 o'clock. On Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays the museum will be kept open until 9:30 p. m., while on Sundays the hours are from 2 to 5 o'clock.

Much interest has been demonstrated in the daily art lectures, which are being given all this week by W. Frank Parry, of the Ferra-gill Galleries, of New York. Mr. Parry is acknowledged as one of the greatest living authorities on American art. Here, for the exhibition, he is lecturing daily at 11 and 3:30, using the pictures in the present exhibit as illustrations of his claim that America is fast coming to the forefront of the world as a cultural nation.

There are nearly two hundred exhibits, including oil and water colors, sculpture and etchings in the collection being shown, representative examples of the work of American artists, outstanding examples of the masterpieces of the greatest American artists now dead, are also included, making the exhibition a comprehensive view of the advance of American art.

All visitors to the exhibition are invited to vote on the picture which appeals to them most, voting blanks being available at the entrance, as well as catalogs. Voting to date, while not officially tabulated, indicates that Atlantans are particularly pleased with a portrait from the brush of Murray Dewey, entitled "Liane," which shows a lovely young girl with a complexion touched with the delicate tint of the Georgia peach, dressed in a soft shade of pink.

One of the most popular rooms in the museum is to the right as the visitor enters. In it are three magnificent portraits and the fine collection of bronzes.

NEW WOMEN'S WEAR STORE OPENS TODAY

This morning, at 8 o'clock, a new store catering to the women of Atlanta will make its bow to the feminine public, when Pepper's ladies ready-to-wear store, at 28 Broad street, S. W., throws open its doors for the first time.

The new establishment will feature its opening with a special sale, to continue for three days, through Friday, Saturday and Monday.

Extensive alterations and entire redecoration of the building have been accomplished for the new business, while the best ideas in modern fixtures have been installed. Two floors of the building are to be occupied at present, but plans contemplate later use of a third floor, devoted to children's wearing apparel.

The new store is owned and operated by J. Friedman, A. Roth and David Barnett, all of Atlanta, and all experienced in this line of enterprise. Mr. Friedman will be store and office manager, while Mr. Roth will have charge of the coat and dress department, on the second floor, with Mr. Barnett directing the shoe department on the first floor.

NEGRO GIVEN 2 YEARS IN LIQUOR VIOLATION

Ed Monroe, negro, charged with storing six and a half gallons of corn liquor in the pulpit of a church at Magnolia and Hulsey streets, entered a plea of guilty Thursday before Judge Jesse M. Wood, in the criminal court of Atlanta, and was sentenced to serve two years' imprisonment.

ATLANTA JEWS END OBSERVANCE OF YOM KIPPUR

When Thursday's sinking sun touched the horizon, devout Atlanta Jews concluded their observance of Yom Kippur, holiest day of the Hebrew religious calendar.

A 24-hour period of fasting and prayer was brought to a close when the shofar, or ceremonial horn, was sounded, announcing to the faithful that their fast had ended.

Impressive services were held in all synagogues of the city. Memorial services for the dead were also observed. Large congregations were in attendance at the temple and synagogues throughout the day.

"Skinny," Rundown Folks Gain Weight

Get new weight and strength with YEAST and IRON. Pleasant to take—Quick results—pay nothing.

Why put up with your skinny figure? Why be hollow-cheeked, thin legged, flat-chested, and lack energy and vitality when IRONIZED YEAST can put pounds of graceful flesh on your bones, fill you with energy and make your cheeks glow with healthy color?

It's the Yeast That Builds Weight. IRONIZED YEAST is a tonic that builds weight and strengthens iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt, and which makes malt so beneficial.

This yeast is treated with iron taken from fresh vegetables—spinach, lettuce and celery. In this form iron is easily assimilated by the body, making rich, red blood and toning up nerves and muscles.

Only when Yeast is ironized in this way is it most effective for iron is needed to bring out the weight-building values of Yeast. By this formula IRONIZED YEAST gives you results in half the time required by yeast and iron taken separately.

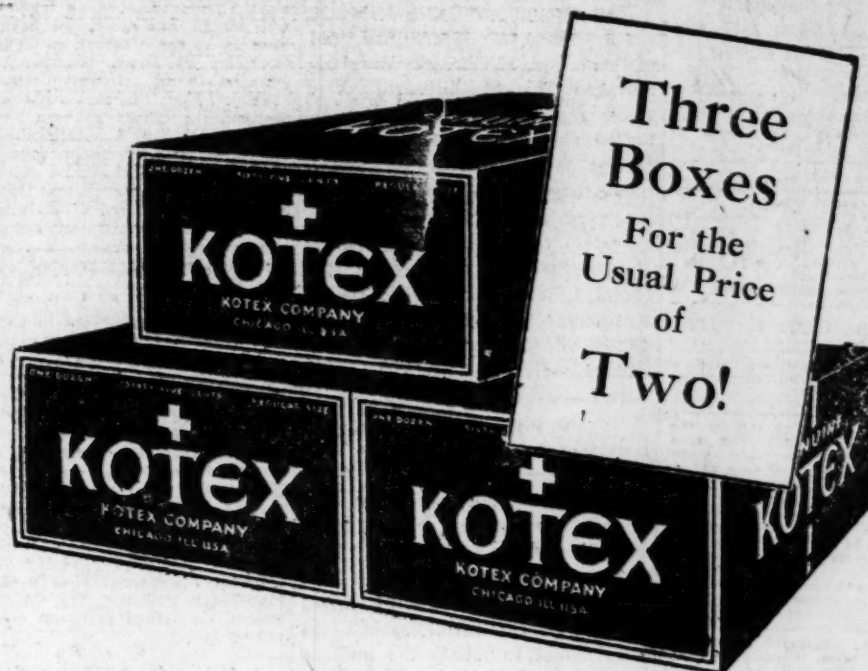

Go to your druggist, get IRONIZED YEAST and begin to enjoy the amazing health benefits at once. Just a single course treatment gives you pounds of solid flesh (not fat), the blood is cleared of impurities and you get a nice, clear, healthy skin. IRONIZED YEAST comes only in pleasant-tasting tablet form—60 to a bottle. Safe for everybody. Does not upset the stomach or cause gas or bloating.

First treatment gives results—or no money. Get IRONIZED YEAST now. If not satisfied with quick results, money for one bottle will be promptly refunded. If inconvenient to buy at the drugist, send $1.00 to IRONIZED YEAST CO., Atlanta, Ga., Desk 207.

COMMITTEE DISCUSSES IRON AND STEEL RATES

Classification rates on iron and steel products proposed by the Southern Classification committee in session here were discussed Thursday by the committee with several prominent steel shippers appearing to present their side of the case involving the proposed increases in some of these rates. The shippers argued in effect that some of the proposed increases are justified, but held out vigorously for decreases in the classification rates on some of their products.

Hundreds of various items of iron and steel were listed on the docket with increased rates. The shipper in interest, several said Thursday night, "but the general appearance of the auditorium is remarkably like Madison Square Garden during the show there. Of course, the garden is bigger, but it is probable that the condensation necessary here adds to the attractiveness of the show."

The crowds in Atlanta, of course, have not been quite as large as in New York, but, according to S. H. Baynes, manager, the type of attendance has average far higher, thus making results better than if the place had been jammed with people merely there as curiosity seekers.

"We are delighted with the attendance," said Mr. Baynes. "It has shown a steady increase each day of the week, and the visitors have been of such a type that the exhibitors have reaped larger results in actual business than I ever heard of at such an exhibition in the past."

Today typewriting contests are to be staged opposite the main entrance. Students from the Southern Business college and other commercial training institutions will take part, competing for prizes offered to the ones who transcribe most rapidly, with the fewest errors in their finished copy. This afternoon also the students of Draughton's Business college are to attend the show in a body, marching in a parade from the center of the city to the auditorium.

The typewriting contests will be staged at 2, 4 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon and at 7, 8 and 9 o'clock in the evening. Full details of the world series games are being received each afternoon at the show, both by radio and by telegraph ticker service direct from the ball parks.

In view of the fact that the show closes Saturday night and because the management is anxious that at least one office worker in the city should see the wonders of modern office equipment displayed, fifty Boy Scouts on Thursday afternoon visited every office in every building in the city, leaving special invitation tickets for each one.

Delegations from all the principal iron and steel centers of the country were present at the session Thursday. Shipping representatives were registered from Birmingham, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Chicago, Louisville and Evansville.

The hearing consumed practically the entire day, with spare time filled in by interested parties desiring to present objections to raises in classifications on certain other articles. The discussions all revolved around questions of economy and the distance of hauls affecting the various items of iron and steel.

Typewriting Races Today At Southern Business Show

Exhibitors who have attended the business show in Madison Square Garden, New York; in Boston, Chicago, Los Angeles and other cities, on Thursday declared that the Southern Business show, in progress this week at the auditorium, compares favorably in every respect with any of these.

"Not only are the exhibits at least the equal of those in New York, in interest," several said Thursday night, "but the general appearance of the auditorium is remarkably like Madison Square Garden during the show there. Of course, the garden is bigger, but it is probable that the condensation necessary here adds to the attractiveness of the show."

SEARS-ROEBUCK ESSAY WINNERS HEAR DR. SOULE

Dr. Andrew M. Soule, president of the Georgia State College of Agriculture, Athens, made a flying trip to Sears, Roebuck and company plant, Thursday morning and urged the farm marketing essay prize-winning boys and girls of the southeastern states to prepare themselves for service in agriculture. Dr. Soule was introduced to the boys and girls by G. C. Rizer, secretary of the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural foundation.

In the course of his talk, Dr. Soule said, "Our great need today is men and women who can and will work out some plan to bring the farmers and consumers closer together. This will necessitate study and education and I hope the trip you boys and girls have won to Atlanta will serve to inspire you to become leaders in agricultural work."

E. J. Condon, secretary of Sears-Roebuck Agricultural foundation, Chicago, was introduced to the farm marketing essay winners. He called their attention to the fact that boys and girls are much more interested in marketing today than they were a few years ago.

4 APPEALS HEARD IN FEDERAL COURT

Briefs in four cases were submitted Thursday to the United States court of appeals at this circuit at the federal building. One case was appealed from Atlanta, and the other three from Savannah. The appeals court recessed Thursday afternoon until Monday.

The local case is the appeal of Thomas J. Avery from the board of tax appeals in a suit in which the board held for the commissioner of internal revenue in a tax case. Avery is represented by Attorney Edgar Watkins, while the government is represented by W. Frank Gibbs, of the bureau of internal revenue.

One of the most spectacular cases before the court of appeals at its present sitting was the appeal of the government in the case of the schooner, "Hazel E. Herman," submitted Thursday. This case came from the Savannah federal court, where the lower court ruled in favor of the schooner, releasing the craft.

The Hazel E. Herman was seized when it put into Savannah to land the captain, wounded in a battle with his jacks 30 miles out, for hospital treatment. The government contended that the vessel, with its cargo of whisky, was liable to seizure because of its entering an American port, but the defendant claimed that the whisky was not destined for American use and that it put into port only in an emergency to secure medical aid for the wounded man. The government appealed when the lower court released the schooner. "Jacob Gazan, of Savannah, represents the schooner as attorney."

The other two cases heard Thursday were also from Savannah. One is the appeal of John E. Hardy against a decision in the lower court in favor of the government in a case of alleged concealed assets in a bankruptcy matter. Attorney Casper Wiseman, of Savannah, represents Hardy. The other case is that of Sam P. Brown, appealing in a liquor conspiracy case. Julian C. Ryer, of Miami, is attorney for Brown.

$16,000,000 CHICAGO TERMINALS OPENED

The Chicago and North Western railway announces the opening, on October 1, of its new $16,000,000 freight terminal, transfer house, and classification yards, located at Proviso, Ill., on its main line, 13 miles west of Chicago.

"We believe that in the new Proviso yards the Chicago and North Western railway has provided the largest and one of the most complete switching and transfer plants in the world," President Fred W. Sargent, of this company, said. "The entire improvement is made with the object of facilitating the movement of freight to and from Chicago and points on our system. Through it we will be enabled to save nearly a day in shipments from Chicago to all points north and northwest and eliminate the movement of several hundred cars a day, that now come in and out of Chicago to the individual freight houses."

Pipgras Hurls Great Game as Yankees Cop Second

Hugmen Again Score Runs In Third Inning

Former Cracker Hurler Keeps Pirates Checked After Being Given Lead

By FRANK GETTY.
(United News Staff Editor.)
Forbes Field, Pittsburgh, Pa., October 6.—The Pirates craft sprang a lead in every seam today, and a Yankee boarding party cut its way to an easy 6-to-2 victory in the second game of the world series.

The American league champions now lead their Pittsburgh rivals two games to none, and are speeding eastward tonight, overwhelming favorites to win the championship of the baseball world.

George Pipgras, a youngster from St. Louis, Minn., who has been wearing a Yankee uniform for four years but doing little else, pitched his first world series game and had the Pirates eating out of his able right hand.

The Yankees murdered the curve ball pitching of Vic Aldridge and drove him from the mound in the seventh.

Once more Pirate misplays paved the way for a New York triumph. The National league champions were outclassed in every department of play.

They enjoyed a one-run lead after a couple of innings today, and with Vic Aldridge's curve breaking well and causing the heaviest hitters of "murderers' row" to swing vainly, things looked bright for the home team.

Large Crowd On Hand.
A noisy throng numbering 41,634, a slightly larger attendance than that at the opening game, was rooting vigorously and when Aldridge struck out Babe Ruth in the first inning, there was joy in Pittsburgh.

They said the Yankees couldn't hit curve ball pitching, but they belabored the sharp breaking twister of Aldridge as though they had been used to them all their lives.

"We ought to clean up the series now in short order," said Miller Huggins. "The most encouraging feature was the way the boys have begun to hit curves."

"I'll start Herb Pennock in New York tomorrow, if I think he is able to pitch well; otherwise it will be Wiley Moore."

Pirates Are Downcast.
The Pirates, who had counted mightily upon winning this second game and evening up the series before moving east, were frankly downcast by their second successive failure.

"The world series never was won in two games," said Donie Bush grimly, as he superintended the packing of Pirates bats and uniforms for the overnight trip to New York.

"The other fellows are half way up the hill, but we'll pass 'em yet," Lee Meadows, bespectacled veteran of the Pittsburgh pitching staff, will start against the American league champions at the Yankee stadium tomorrow.

Meadows is just about Donie Bush's last hope. He still has Carmen Hill in reserve, but there is a widespread idea in baseball circles that the Yankees would find Carmen made to order for them. John Miljus, who relieved Rony Kinner in the opening game, looks to be the best pitcher Bush has on his staff.

Seldom has a team in a championship series made such a miserable showing as the Pirates have thus far in the current so-called classic.

And seldom has a ball club taken prompt advantage of the "break" in its favor than the New York Yankees have in these two games in Pittsburgh. But that's the way to win titles.

Buc Hurlers Pitch Wrong Way to Yanks

Moriarty Says Hug's Flaming Staff Is Conceded Better Than Pirates'

(From North American Newspaper Alliance, by George Moriarty, manager Detroit baseball team. Copyright, 1932, in all countries by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Pittsburgh, Pa., October 6.—New York's Yankees dominated the Pirates in a most amazing manner in the second game of the world series, winning, 6 to 2.

The entire Pittsburgh defense was wobbly throughout the game and this applies particularly to Vic Aldridge, upon whom Donie Bush had pinned his hopes to stop the slugging American leaguers.

Aldridge, like Kremer in the first game, seemed to feel the grave responsibility of halting the Yankees. He had to be taken out in the eighth inning when he walked Bengough and Pipgras in succession. Just previous to that he had cut loose with a wild pitch that scored Meusel from third.

Aldridge collapsed more completely than Kremer. I think his plan of high fast balls and curves brought about his downfall. He was in the hole almost constantly and the Yankees took full advantage of it.

Pittsburgh pitchers, with the single exception of Milling, have not pitched properly to the Yankees. Low and slow stuff is one thing that will bother them and the Pittsburgh pitchers have failed to use this.

Three singles, a double and two sacrifice flies gave the Yankees three runs in the third. It was in this inning that Lloyd Waner fumbled Koonce's single, permitting Combs to score. Later, in the sixth, Lloyd redeemed himself by turning in a brilliant running catch of Combs' long fly over his head. It was this catch that saved the Yankees from being outed then. Two men were on base and two were out. This play was the outstanding defensive feat of the first two games.

When Miller Huggins selected George Pipgras to pitch, he chose wisely. He was one game up on Pittsburgh and could afford to experiment with this brilliant recruit. Only two weeks ago Pipgras held the Detroit Tigers to three hits in a masterly pitched game and that achievement earned him his assignment in the second game of the world series.

Pipgras pumped his terrific fast ball and curves at the Pittsburgh bats with telling effect. While I expected him to win, barring a wild streak, I have seen him much faster than he was today, but even without his customary speed he held the Pirates to seven scattered hits.

At this juncture Miller Huggins has a big advantage on pitching. Pennock is ready for action, while Wiley Moore and his lead ball sinker can be called on at any moment.

Bus Hurlers Not So Good.
The pitching situation has apparently suffered a reversal of form. Before the series everybody conceded an edge in pitching to Pittsburgh. Now the edge is with New York.

DONIE BUSH MAKES POOR MANAGING EDITOR—PEGLER

Doesn't Give Literary Players Right Assignments

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
(By Teased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Pittsburgh, Pa., October 6.—The Yankees won another baseball match from Mr. B. Dreyfuss' Pittsburgh concern, the Pirates, this afternoon, and the customers of the local business house were so disturbed about it that they filled the air with unpleasant remarks about their hero of recent date, Mr. Donie Bush, managing editor of the journalistic Pittsburgh team. The score was 6 to 2, and the Yankees, for the second time in two days, scored three of their runs in the third inning, which is not only a coincidence, but a statistic, and, therefore, a paradox, as coincidences prove nothing, whereas statistics prove anything.

It is surprising how many unpleasant remarks it takes to fill the air, even in Pittsburgh where the atmosphere normally is so thick that it has to be taken with a knife and fork, and a sugar bowl, allowed to stand uncovered for fifteen minutes by a fast watch, looks like a load of screen coal. The customers were annoyed at Mr. Bush because he did not employ an athlete by the name of Kiki Cuyler who used to play middlefield for the Dreyfuss firm, even as a pinch-hitter in the eighth inning. Centerfield is called middlefield in Pittsburgh, which is something else wrong with the place. Of course, the customers everywhere have a great talent for being annoyed when the local firm is losing a baseball match so Mr. Bush probably was not much perturbed by the popular displeasure, but Mr. Will Evans, the American league ump, representing those who take their baseball to heart, was very wrathly about it, indeed.

It appears that the city of Pittsburgh is divided into two armed camps about the Cuyler matter, as I read something to this effect in one of the local papers today. One camp is on the south hills, and the other on the north hills, and all these people feel one way or another about a dispute between a prominent business man, Mr. Dreyfuss, and an employee who gets $12,000 a year, Mr. Cuyler.

If Mr. Dreyfuss were in the ladies' ready-to-wear industry and he had a dispute with a shipping clerk, the customers of his firm probably would say it was too bad two such nice men couldn't get along, and Mr. Dreyfuss couldn't understand by what right the customers of his baseball firm try to interfere with the conduct of his business. This is a reasonable position for Mr. Dreyfuss to take because he never has claimed that he was in the baseball industry to make little boys prefer health recreation to standing around outside of pool halls making disparaging cracks about the legs of ladies passing by. Mr. Dreyfuss has always insisted that he was in the baseball industry for business reasons and if the sport writers of Pittsburgh write him free and easy criticisms of his operating methods they are likely to be admonished against taking liberties with a wealthy local business house.

An Occasion For Rebuke.
On the sixth of last August, Mr. Bush, as foreman of the employees, had occasion to rebuke Mr. Cuyler for some omission during the course of a baseball match, and, one word leading to another, Mr. Bush removed Mr. Cuyler from the lineup. He has not been back since, except to hit a few times and even when he did hit, Mr. Bush would send a substitute in to do his running for him. So, at present, he sits on the top step of the Mrs. Alexa Stirling Fraser, formerly of Atlanta, Ga., and now of Ottawa, tomorrow will oppose Miss Fritzi Stifel, of Wheeling, W. Va., for the honor of playing the survivor of the lower half of the draw on Saturday's 36-hole final.

Mrs. Fraser today brought to a close the steady campaign of the defending Canadian champion, Miss Ada Mackenzie, to retain her title. She had no real difficulty obtaining her victory, the score being 5 and 3.

Shortly before the baseball match commenced, Mr. Bush, as managing editor, called a staff meeting in the city room down under the grand stand and it was reported that he was approaching his writers for their literary style or their baseball was not disclosed, although there was fault to be found with both. Mr. Bush, I understand, is the one to find it. Personally, I think that Mr. Bush has been a poor editor in this series, because, instead of assigning one player to cover bunts, another to cover fouls, and so forth, he has let them pick their own topics and all of their expertise begin by saying, "Well, fans, I still figure that the team that gets the breaks will win."

Something Missing.
In these last two days I have read at least a dozen of these pieces all the way to the second sentence without discovering what Mr. Bush said to Mr. Earl Looze-Lip Smith for missing a throw to catch a runner in the first game. Instead of the intimate repartee between the employees on the field regarding which there is such avid interest and murky mystery, these pieces have dealt with baseball technique and it was through my own enterprise that I discovered what Mr. Bush said to Mr. Tony Lazzeri when Mr. Barnhart sat down so emphatically on Mr. Lazzeri's wrist and sprained it. However, if what Mr. Bush said in this debate is anything like what he said to Mr. Smith for miffing the throw, I can understand why the journalists on the team exchanged his remarks from their articles. Having discovered what Mr. Bush said to Mr. Lazzeri, my fine sense of delicacy now warns me that he should not be quoted literally in a newspaper which goes into the American home.

They state that Mr. Bush is a very determined gentleman, who stands about as high as Mr. Fred Fulton, who usually stands with the back of his head and the rear of his trousers firmly planted on the canvas. By this I mean to imply that Mr. Bush would have to jump up on a hydrant to hit Mr. Miller Huggins north of the belt, although Mr. Huggins, himself, could walk under one of those underslung German dogs, the dachshund, I believe, wearing high heels and a pompadour.

Mr. Huggins Not Irritable.
It is a good thing for Babe Ruth that Mr. Huggins was not as irritable as Mr. Bush in the days when Mr. Ruth and the rest of the Yankees were playing boyish pranks on Mr. Huggins a few seasons ago, because Mr. Bush, in a neutral mood, would have reduced a $1,000,000 ball player to a total loss, plus hospital, if anyone had leaned into his berth at night and tried to make him swallow a cabbage, whole. Mr. Ruth was irrefragable in those days and he probably thought there was nothing irregular about this because he had a great appetite himself and it used to be said that he could eat a bath towel raw if you gave him gravy with it.

"OUTFIELDERS' UNION" ASKS RECORD IS SET AS INFIELDS MAKE BUT 10 ASSISTS LESS WORK AT BIG SERIES

BY PAUL W. WHITE.
United News Staff Correspondent.

Pittsburgh, October 6.—Officials of the outfielders' union, world series local, hastily summoned a meeting of the New York and Pittsburgh fly catchers after the second game today and drafted resolutions asking time and a half for overtime.

"The infielders were virtually idle," they said, and pointed to the box score as proof. "We did all the chores. What are Barney Dreyfuss and Colonel Jacob Ruppert going to do about it?"

In addition to hits that went flying past the infield, making more work for the weary, 24 chances came to the six outfielders on the two teams. The Yankee trio, Earl Combs, Babe Ruth and Bob Meusel, handled 10 flies with-out a bobble, while Lloyd Waner's error in the first inning was the only miscue out of 14 opportunities afforded him, his brother, Paul, and Clyde Barnhart. Lloyd grabbed seven after missing the one, and his spear of Combs' line, near the scoreboard in the sixth was a classic.

Outfielders Busy.
The infielders, on the other hand, were busy handling only such putouts as came their way. A world series record was set when both clubs made

THOMASTON PLAYS MARIST HERE TODAY

Coach Joe Bean's Marist cadets will face a grueling test in their game today at Spiller's field when they meet the seasoned squad of the Robert E. Lee Institute from Thomaston, Ga.

Coach Bean has been striving valiantly to whip a gang of raw material into shape with but three veterans in the lineup. This is a colossal task for any coach and with the invaders bringing a 170-pound line to the big city and an experienced backfield, the job confronting the Cadets is not simple.

If Lord Baltimore could have smoked Cavaliers

he'd probably have said

"These Cavalier Cigarettes have captured the rare goodness of the fine old tobacco flavors that gentlemen prefer. Naturally, I have smoked no other kind since I tasted my first Cavalier. And it is a pleasure to me to recommend them to my friends. They are milder, smoother, better than any other cigarette."

Lord Baltimore

Of course Lord Baltimore, fine gentleman of Colonial days, never knew that tobacco could produce the smoking satisfaction that is tied up in a package of Cavaliers. But you can know the full measure of cigarette contentment this very day. It comes with the first puff of a Cavalier. Just go to the nearest cigarette counter and get a package. After the first, you'll probably buy them by the carton—just like your friends are doing. You'll agree they're as mild and mellow as ripe Georgia peaches.

PIPGRAS IS GIVEN WARM RECEPTION BY TEAMMATES

BY EDWARD J. NEIL.
Associated Press Sports Writer.

Pittsburgh, Pa., October 6.—(AP)—A big, jovial youngster—"the happiest guy in the world"—took the "lacing of his life" today after the Pittsburgh Pirates had failed either to dent his composure or the starting right-hand slants he tossed their way in the Yankee second straight world series victory.

A bit shame-faced, and not quite sure how he was to face the "gang," George Pipgras ambled quietly into the Yankee dressing room after the greatest hurling victory of his rather variegated career. The reception he got swept him into a corner, huddled in a crouch away from the boisterous attack of his teammates.

The Yankees, who had seen him come and go at various times in the past six years and perch on the bench in the fall classic of 1926 while the Cardinals grabbed the championship honors, pounded his back, wrung his hands and hazed him like a college freshman.

On the outside of all the excitement stood Bob Shawkey, a world series starting pitcher himself last season, but now a sort of pitching mentor to the youngsters and a finisher rather than a starter of games. Reflection of the new glory that had come to Pipgras fell also about Bob, for the and added another wrinkle to the curve. Bob changed my pitching movement, too, and that improved my effectiveness a lot.

"It was my first world series game, but I wasn't nervous at all. It was just another ball game and I knew there were at least two clubs in our league—Detroit and Philadelphia—that hit harder than Pittsburgh. But I'm the happiest guy in the world right now to have won and I only hope the Pirates held on long enough to let me get another crack in the box."

Yanks Hold Upper Hand.
Bustling around to pack and head back to the home grounds at the Yankee stadium for the third clash of the series the New York club presented a decided contrast to the Pirates, fighting now with their backs to the wall and pitching axes discredited by two straight losses.

"Looks like a breeze, just a breeze," Babe Ruth bellowed while socks, shoes and uniforms filled the air leading in the general direction of the club trucks. "Two more games and the series is over." The Ramblers were a bit discomfited at falling to hit safely today or get a homer in the two-game stay here, but felt that the familiar reaches of the Yankee stadium would put him back in the distance clouting mood.

There was little talk in the Pirates' stronghold as the players dressed quietly and hurried out.

"We're just not hitting," was the general opinion, "but when we do, watch out for the same kind of a finish that brought us home in the National league pennant race."

Admiral Magruder says the navy has too many admirals, and Secretary Wilbur seems to agree that it has at least one too many.

HIGH LIGHTS OF BIG SERIES

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Babe Ruth's first strike out of the series, in the opening inning of the second game, was done with the usual Ruthian eclat. Aldridge's sharp-breaking curves had the Babe guessing. He let one slip by, fouled off another and missed a third, while the crowd cheered wildly.

Tony Lazzeri, Yankee second-sacker, played the game with a bandaged left wrist, which he sprained in a mix-up with George Grantham in the opening game. There was doubt whether Tony would start the game, but once in it his play did not seem affected by the injury.

Lloyd Waner, in manhandling Koenig's single in the third inning, displayed the same nervousness affixed that Brother Paul had in the first game, in spite of being taken to task overnight on this score by "Dad" Waner. The father of the two boys, after watching the Yankee slugger, gave some advice on how to play them. Lloyd atoned for his early mistake by grabbing Combs' long fly on the run in the sixth, with two on base.

Bulldogs Reach New Haven Today

Red and Black, on Fifth Invasion of Yale Bowl, Out To Win Game.

BY WHITNER CARY.

On Board Piedmont Limited—Some where in North Carolina.—As these lines are written, the University of Georgia's football expeditionary force, which is heading in the general direction of New Haven and a gridded encounter with Yale, is making substantial gains in the region of the Southern railway's dining car. That is, the 30 numbers of the shock troop brigade are making healthy inroads into the commissary department. The general staff, including Field Marshal Kid Woodruff, General Harry Mehre, Brawley Dailey and Colonel S. W. Sanford, together with Joe Myers, one of the most loyal Georgia supporters Athens ever produced, a few camp followers and the war correspondents are awaiting the results of the first assault and if anything is left will form the second wave. Judging from appearances, disposition and appetites, the 30 numbers of the shock troops are ready to give old Eli a great battle. No injuries exist, the boys seem to be able to put away plenty of food and last, but by no means least, there is an undecurrent of grumpiness that argues no good for Yale. It is said that the best sign a prize fighter is in good condition on the eve of a match is for him to exhibit an irritable demeanor. That comes from no less an authority than Kid Woodruff, himself, that the same rules apply to football teams on the brink of an important game. If that is true, our shock troops are in good mental shape, for there has been an undecurrent of restlessness and irritability all day. Some complain of the heat, others think the train could run faster and still others don't like the dust.

There is a grim and business-like air pervading the ranks that impels one to believe that these serious-looking youngsters mean to stage a genuine battle in the Yale bowl on Saturday. True it is a grim prospect in store, for the last four years Georgia has sent invading teams to the level with prospects bright and hopes high. On four of these occasions the Bulldogs have returned empty-handed.

What this fifth assault will produce lies written under the sod of the huge bowl at New Haven, but while the answer to the result is a mystery no secret exists as to the present condition and mental attitude of Georgia's warriors. Both are at the peak.

The weather is very warm. In fact it seems the further north we get the hotter it becomes. This is no blow to Kid Woodruff, who makes no bones about the fact that a warm day will help his team's chances. The party arrives in New York at 9:10 tomorrow morning, take a train immediately for New Haven, reaching there about 11 o'clock.

The afternoon will see the boys out for a light workout and then a good night's sleep at the Taft hotel before the fifth attempt in five years to lower the Blue standard to half-mast. Passing Salisbury, N. C., led William Munday, one of the war correspondents, to remark to Kid Woodruff: "How would you like to stay and pitch ball in this town for six weeks like I did?" Whereupon the Kid gravely replied, "I would not mind staying in the town that long, but would hate to pitch ball like you did." Mr. Munday thereby turned the subject and when last seen was on his way to the dining car.

Grand Circuit Program Ends Today at Southeastern Fair

Special Race Will Feature Closing Card

Noted Pacers To Compete in Free-for-All Event This Afternoon

A treat is in store for grand circuit racing fans at the Southeastern fair this afternoon for starting at 2 o'clock, an especially good program will be held. The main event will be the free-for-all race, featuring four of the world's best pacers with the other events equally as good.

Among the noted horses that will run are Tarzan Grattan, Walter T. Candler's famous horse that won the $25,000 Kalamazoo, Mich., sweepstakes; Skeeter W., one of Walter Cox's favorites; David Fellows, another of Candler's entries; Tippy Frisco, Fullworthy, one of Murphy's entries and a host of others.

Sam Williams, one of the largest money trotters on the Grand Circuit during the past summer, finished a half a length ahead of Clara Bascom, to win the 2:08 trot, a feature event on the Thursday afternoon card. The time was 2:05 1-2 and the event was worth $2,500 to the winners.

The Good Time stables entry was driven by Walter Cox and finished first in the first and final heats, with a second place for the second heat.

Clara Bascom, a Murphy entry finished fourth in the first heat, but came back strong in the final two and won second money. Signal Flash, a Palin entry, won third place in each of the heats.

Murphy Entry Wins.
Red Aubrey, another of Murphy's entries won the two-year-old trot in straight heats. The event carried a purse of $2,500 and the best time was 2:05 1-4.

PRINCE OF SPORTSMEN AND HIS ENTRY AT LAKEWOOD TODAY

A Grand Circuit meeting without the name of Walter Candler on the entry list would be like a baseball game without a Cobb or a Ruth or a Gehrig. Above are three of the Candler entries which have brought about this feeling in every community where Grand Circuit racing is a topic. At the left is Tarzan Grattan, one of the finest blue bloods of the Candler stables. Tarzan Grattan carved his niche in the hall of fame two years ago when he won the $25,000 stakes at Kalamazoo, Mich. Here he is driven in a trial jog by Fred Egan, trainer for the Candler stable. At the right is Walter Candler, himself behind Tippy Frisco, one of his best trotters. Both of these horses will race at Lakewood today. These pictures were taken on the Lullwater track of the beautiful Candler estate. On the right is Mr. Candler holding Louis D'rect, running mate to Tarzan Grattan, and one of the best money horses in the circuit.

Petrel Frosh Open Against U. S. B. Today

Robertson Gives Varsity Long Workout; Freshman Game at 3 O'Clock.

BY FRED MEACHIN.
Oglethorpe's bidlets, the Petrel Frosh, will open their season this afternoon against University's Bluebirds on Hernance field. The young Petrels have the making of a strong team this year and will meet with plenty of opposition from the Bluebirds.

Last Saturday the university grid aggregation journeyed up to Louisville and met defeat at the hands of the Male High school eleven, the final count being 19 to 0. The Bluebirds are determined not to make it two black eyes in a row and will be out for blood this afternoon.

The Frosh, smarting under the severe dealings from the varsity in the past few days, are anxious to jump on some one and figure that it might as well be University.

All of which forebodes a good, tough scrap on Hernance field this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Coch Harry Robertson sent his Petrel varsity through a long workout Thursday afternoon. With October 15 and the opening game with Citadel, in Charleston, drawing closer each day, the work at the Peachtree road institution is gathering more and more speed each day and next week the work will be harder than ever.

Linsey Vaughn, star fullback, who was injured in scrimmage the early part of the week, is recovering rapidly and will soon be back in uniform.

Pipgras Is Star In Yank Victory

eclipsed by a team that gave no indication of being concerned over the big things at stake, the crowd turned on Manager Donie Bush as no world's series leader ever before was turned on by his home people. The tickle folk rose en masse and howled for "Kiki" Cuyler when a chance came for a pinch-hitter to start the home eighth.

New Yank Assaults.
Strangely enough, the Yank attack didn't come from the sections most dreaded by those who have to face it. The great a. u. t. h. always a menace as long as a bat swings in his paw, contributed only a sacrifice fly and a pass in five trips. The murderous Gehrig did a little better with a pass, a sacrifice fly and a hit, but the spot he received for the blow—a double—was the third, and it helped to heap hot coals on the burning brow of Aldridge.

Aldridge started down the road to defeat when Combs led off in the third with a ringing single to right. Koenig slapped one to center and Kid Wauer, a bit overanxious, charged in only to let the ball roll by. His brother retrieved it out in "No Man's Land" but Combs scored and Koenig checked in at third on the blunder.

Koenig Comes Home.
Ruth then clouted a fairly hefty fly to the Kid in center and as the Kid didn't possess a particularly powerful throwing arm, Koenig went home from third without exerting himself.

Gehrig stepped up and role the ball like a shot into right center for a double. The indifferent Bob Meusel then broke in with his first hit of the series but Wright knocked it down in deep short and forced Gehrig to stop at third. The feat of the rangy shortstop did no good, however, because Lazzeri aimed a fly to right field and Gehrig scooted home with the third run of the inning. It put the Yanks two ahead and what happened after this really didn't matter except to the New Yorkers who wanted to make it as decisive as the law allowed.

Meusel Starts Rally.
Meusel cornered the honor of starting the eighth-round rally when he shoved a single just out of Grantham's reach. On the next pitch, Lazzeri made an attempt to bunt, failed, and swung for a line single to right, putting Meusel on third. It was a bit of versatility such as the Pirates didn't attempt. Aldridge then committed a wild pitch and the ball rolled only a short distance back of the plate but the pitcher stood dazed in his tracks instead of rushing up to cover so Meusel slid to home and there was nobody to bother him. Lazzeri went to second on the wild pitch and Dugan tried to bunt him along, but the Wop inadvertently overslid the bag and was called out. Bengough came up and Aldridge couldn't get the ball even close to the plate. He was through and it didn't take any expert eye to detect it. He passed Bengough, then Pipgras walked to fill the bases and Cengros came in. He hit Combs in the back, forcing Dugan to score and a

Joan La Costa To Choose Ace In Auto Race

Facing one of the greatest fields ever started in the south, Mlle. Joan La Costa will be allowed to choose her opponent from the line in the match race carded as an added feature of the auto races which climax the Southeastern fair Saturday, race officials decided at a conference last night.

Mlle. La Costa, due to arrive this morning, may choose her opponent today or wait until she draws up to the tape, the officials decided, thus settling the problem of who was to have preference among the horde of challengers that bobbed up when her entry was announced.

Curly Young, dynamic little Chicago speed star, first sought a chance to meet Mlle. La Costa, but half a dozen other of the entries presented claims of priority. At a special conference last night it was suggested that Mlle. La Costa be allowed to choose her opponent, and that she be matched with more than one of the male daredevils if she wishes.

moment later Koenig's single shoved Bengough over with the sixth and final Yank marker.

Outfielders Say They Work Hard

only 10 assists, and of those the infielders made but seven.

Glenn Wright, the Pittsburgh shortstop, had only one chance during the game, and muffed that. His performance was believed to constitute another series record. Joe Harris, Pirate first baseman, had only three putouts, which also was without precedent.

Thus the outfielders are asking "How come?" And they demand changed working conditions when the two teams move on to Yankee stadium.

An outfield problem of another kind bothers Donie Bush, manager of the Pirates, and make him glad that the Pittsburghers are leaving town. The fans have begun to "ride" him hard for keeping Hazen "Kiki" Cuyler on the bench.

It has been told how Cuyler was removed from the lineup because he didn't want to bat second, neglected to slide into second on a close play and was guilty of other minor derelictions.

Now Pittsburgh fandom is saying that Cuyler has been spanked enough—that it is time for Bush to kiss and make up. But the chances are that the little manager will keep Cuyler idle throughout the series.

In the eighth inning, when Earl

Smith was ordered up to bat for Mike Cengros, the unpronounceable pitcher, the customers in the stands arose en masse and roared:

Pirates Are Quiet After Losing Two To American Team

Pittsburgh, October 6.—(United Press.)—The Pirates dressing room after the game today was a scene of morose silence.

Whereas the players after their defeat Wednesday had time for a little levity and fun-making, there was a morose silence today.

"We just haven't been playing ball," Joe Harris, first baseman, said. "We had tough breaks Wednesday, but today we just got beat. There is plenty of time, though, for a comeback."

The Yankees were singing as they went to the showers, but there was a complaint from their best known star.

"I missed my chance to knock some into the stands here. We won't be back," Babe Ruth said sadly.

"They have to beat us two more games and we are not licked until those games are lost," Denie Dush, Pirates manager, declared.

"The Yankees are halfway up the hill while we have the whole route to go, but I believe that we can make it."

Miller Huggins, Yankees' leader, was pleased with his team.

"They played ball today as if they knew something about the game," Huggins said, "we had some breaks Wednesday, but breaks had nothing to do with the victory today."

"The most satisfying feature of the game today was that the boys are showing an inclination to hit curve ball pitching. But I've warned them that we're not in yet."

It was evident from the faces that passed through the L. & N. station that the Yankees will be a determined bunch when the Golden Tornado is tackled. Coach Bierman has impressed his men with the fact that Tech has beaten Tulane in three meetings and he expects them to fight hard to turn the tables this time.

Close followers of the Tulane team here believe that the Tech game will give the Greens the acid test. Ole Miss wasn't strong enough to bring out the true worth of the locals, as Hazel's men weakened in their pressure after Tulane had scored twice. The Tulane line will be the key to the outcome of the game. Should the heavy forwards, who average close to 200 pounds, hold out, Tulane may win.

The game with Harvard will be the first opportunity this year of comparing western football with the much-lauded eastern variety. Purdue is not regarded as one of the strong teams in the conference, but the team is the one most likely to prove a deciding factor in determining the championship this year.

Local Prep Teams Get Busy Today

All High School Eleven Except Tech High Squad in Action Over Week-End.

Local prep teams will be active over this week-end, as usual, with most of the contests slated for this afternoon.

To top the list, University meets the Oglethorpe freshman squad at Hermance field, Marist plays Robert E. Lee school, of Thomaston, here; Fulton meets Decatur at Decatur; G. M. A. and Columbus Industrial tie up at College Park and Commercial High takes the interurban out to Marietta for a game with the High school eleven of that city.

Boys' High will entrain this afternoon for Montgomery where the Purple will play Sidney Lanier tomorrow afternoon. The Tech High Smithies, who covered themselves with glory by trimming the Erie P. Academy High team in Erie last Saturday, have enjoyed a week of rest and will continue to do so. They will watch from the side lines this week-end.

The Fulton High-Decatur contest is the most evenly matched of all the games billed for today. Decatur showed plenty of fight last Friday when defeated by Boys' High 13-0, while the Fulton gridders failed to show much drive against the outfit from Canton. The Fultonites have picked up in the past week, however, and a big scrap is looked for.

Last week the Monroe Aggies were too much for the G. M. A. Cadets and the Aggies went home on the big end of an 18-0 victory. The Cadets expected to tell a different tale this week and will stage a tough scrap against the Industrial outfit.

The Typist squad will journey over to Marietta this afternoon to tackle the team there in Commercial's second game of the season. The Commercial team opened the season with a victory and will attempt to make it two in a row.

La Fayette, Ind., October 6.—(United Press.)—Carrying 33 players, the coaching and training staff and every student who could beg or borrow the price of a ticket, an eight-coach Purdue-to-Harvard special train left today for the football game at Cambridge, Mass., Saturday.

Captain Chester Wilcox, of the Purdue squad, accompanied the team, his foot heavily bandaged. He will be unable to play Saturday, it was announced, and his place in the backfield will be hard to fill. Wilcox is regarded as one of the best backs of the big ten conference.

The game with Harvard will be the first opportunity this year of comparing western football with the much-lauded eastern variety. Purdue is not regarded as one of the strong teams in the conference, but the team is the one most likely to prove a deciding factor in determining the championship this year.

New York, October 6.—(AP)—Kentucky II, odds-on favorite at 9 to 10, carried the skills of A. C. Schwartz to victory over a smart field in the October handicap at the Jamaica race track today, finishing by two lengths from Cherry Pie. Light Carbine came in to show. The race was worth $3,700. The victor covered the mile and one sixteenth in 1:45.

Each day strange dogs have been racing together and the handicapper had some trouble in placing the entries, but the winners have been picked each day and now the handlers want to put the eight winners together in a derby.

This plan made a decided hit with the fair authorities, and so Saturday afternoon the dog derby of the week will be run. Every day the authorities have succeeded in overcoming some little difficulty in the staging of the races and Thursday both events were run as well as could possibly be expected on a horse track. Saturday, with all experienced dogs on the turf, the fans should have a rare treat in store.

When the two best races of the week were run on Thursday the undercurrent of feeling had done a complete "about face." The crowds were calling for the start of the races, and when the last dog had crossed the tape in the last race they stood to cheer.

There is much anticipation of this canine classic. Running under difficult conditions, the dog speedsters have been steadily winning the applause of the grandstand sitters at the Lakewood oval. Many of the doubters who had never witnessed dog races stayed at the track the first day to see the dog races just because they wondered why dogs should be allowed to race at all.

HAWK-EYEING SPORTS

•BY DICK HAWKINS•

Those of us who enjoy the sports of kings, queens and all the rest of the royal flush should be well satisfied by trips to the Southeastern Fair grounds today and tomorrow.

Horses, dogs and automobiles will flash three kinds of speed for the edification of the race enthusiasts, and in each of these fields there will be "blue blood."

Today comes the highest spot in the Grand Circuit program. Four of the finest trotters in the list will be matched in a quadrangular race this afternoon at about 3 o'clock. These four horses come here bearing ribbons from the best Grand Circuit tracks in the nation.

There is Guy Ozark, big money winner; Alleen Guy, winner of the Transylvania stake at Lexington; Trumpet, one of the largest money winners of the season, and Hazelton, undefeated circuit horse this season.

There is keen rivalry between these four stables, and with the records of these horses shining brightly in the record books there is promise of a bit of fun for a few minutes this afternoon.

In addition to this race there will be others featuring the Howard Candler pacers and other good horses. On Saturday the track will be the scene of two big events in which horses will not figure.

The stench of gasoline fumes will float skyward when the auto races tear up the turf in the second race of the fair season, and there will be a dog derby featuring the winners of the daily races during the week.

KNOW YOUR JACKETS

BY BEN COTHMAN

BEN LARGEN.

This is his second year on Tech's varsity squad. Largen having played on the freshman team of two years back with Parham, Horne and other Tech notables. The rangy junior was going fairly well up until Wednesday, when a badly wrenched knee put him on the shelf. The knee is recovering rapidly and Largen will probably be out again within the next week. He prepped at the Morgan school in Petersburg, Tenn., playing guard in basketball. However, he started putting on inches instead of pounds, and standing 6 feet, with 157 pounds to cover his frame, he is better suited for this position than his 23-year-old lad.

And the long trip from Atlanta, the V. M. I. Cadets have been back at the practice grind on Alumni field. Coaches Rattery and Hess are working on the theory that each game must be taken as it comes, and the title with the Roanoke Maroons on Saturday is being kept thoroughly in mind.

A scrimmage with the freshmen eleven Wednesday helped to iron out some of the wrinkles in the play of the line, as revealed in the Tech game, and practice since then has consisted chiefly of workouts designed to bring the flying squadron up to its best form for Saturday's game. The coaches expect to use practically the same line-up that started last week.

And Tulane is stronger than V. M. I. V. M. I. was barely beaten—7 and 0. A prolonged flash of what the Tech team can do carried the ball 90 yards down the field for a touchdown to beat the Cadets. But Saturday it will take more than flashes for the Jackets to keep their collective heads above water.

Coach Alexander hasn't announced his starting line-up for Saturday but you will, in all probability, see Dabuck barking signals. He was the chauffeur on the touchdown drive last Saturday. Thompson and Mizell—the two sophomores who did a lot of the carrying on that same drive—will be running together at half. Thompson to run. Mizell to run some more and also kick. Bob Randolph will look for holes in Tulane's forward wall.

Changes in Line. Tech's line—the seawall to take the buffets and continual smashes of the Green Wave—will probably be changed.

Captain Ed Crowley and Frank Waddy, of course, will be at either flank. Good ends are few, too few, in the jacket camp. Crowley is the oldest, experienced and best, while Waddy's playing last Saturday was joyful to watch—especially on defense.

The biggest shake-up is looked for at tackle. Don't fall off your seats if the starting lineup has Coot Wadkins and Frank Spear at tackle. Admitted that they both sophomores, but the sophomore, it seems, is having his day, or season, at the flats. And the pair looked good last Saturday. They have looked good in scrimmage. So it is highly likely that Papa Hood and Kenneth Thrash will wear shiny spots on the seats of their pants on the bench Saturday.

New Jacket Lineup Seen For Tomorrow

Tulane Squad To Work Out on Grant Field This Afternoon.

BY BEN COTHMAN.

The weatherman's report says no moisture for Atlanta today, but at 12:30, 28 husky waverlets, composing Tulane university's Green Wave will come sloshing into the Terminal station, sweep on out Peachtree to the Georgian Terrace hotel, and later in the afternoon trickle down to North Avenue into the stadium. Grant field for a testing of its force with which it hopes to drown the hopes of Georgia Tech Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Strong is this Green Wave. Fast and tricky. And like most waves, when it strikes something it can't get around, it takes to the air.

The draft with which Tech hopes to ride the crest of this invading force from New Orleans has been remodeled, and there will probably be new faces in the starting crew that will man the oars Saturday afternoon.

For you will probably remember the sophomores had to take the field and save the day for a few older and supposedly better juniors in the first of the fall Grant field matinees last Saturday.

Tulane Strong. And Tulane is stronger than V. M. I. V. M. I. was barely beaten—7 and 0. MANY YANKEE FANS TO MISS HOME GAMES

New York, October 6.—(AP)—The joy of New York's myriad baseball fans at the second successive victory of their Yanks in the world series today was tempered only by the realization that only 64,000 possibly can jam their way into the Yankee stadium as the scene of battle shifts tomorrow to "the park that Ruth built."

While the stadium's capacity is more than 20,000 less than that of Forbes field in Pittsburgh, the big arena can accommodate only a fraction of the fans eager to welcome the winning Yankees and their hard-fighting Pittsburgh foes.

Thirty thousand seats—10,000 in the upper grandstand and the remainder in the bleachers—were to go on sale at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning at the stadium, and some of the ultra-enthusiastic announced the intention of standing in line all night. The 34,000 seats in the lower grandstand, which were offered for advance sale, have been sold out since last week and countless requests for reservations were being turned down.

The ticket famine was reflected to in the arrest of operators of two Broadway ticket agencies for alleged speculation.

Waycross Names Boxing Board

Waycross, Ga., October 6.—R. L. Folks, chairman; R. M. Russell, secretary, and C. C. Shedd have been named as the Waycross boxing commission. The motion picture commission is to have a board to govern the fight games in the city. Those men will be the "fathers" of boxing in Waycross and will have full authority to act so as to protect the fans who pay to see fights instead of fancy dancing and wrestling.

Firpo Martin at guard and Rusk to go in at center for Pund. Any way, that's the combination Alex had running in dummy scrimmage against the Devils Friday afternoon while the Devils were flashing all manner of Tulane plays with Tulane's unbalanced line formation and Tulane's passes. And that's the combination that galloped up under the temporary stands with Don Miller and ran signals until after dark and the cows had already come home.

Wherefore the possibility of that same combination shoving off tomorrow afternoon in an attempt to successfully navigate the wide expanse of Tulane's Green Wave with its tricky swirls and eddies.

Thursday at the flats couldn't go by without a scrimmage so the freshmen—disrespectful of their elders, as always—were brought down from the baseball field to entertain a second-string combination that included some first stringers of last Saturday—Bob Parham and Bob Horne among them. Enterprising the freshmen did, and it was a real bunch that trooped in to the showers Thursday night.

This afternoon brings the usual signal drill and its accompaniments. The boys will get off to a late start, about 4:30, owing to the fact that Tulane will work out for an hour or so prior to that time. Then Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, it'll be sink or swim for the Jackets.

U. S. MARSHAL RETURNS FROM CALIFORNIA TRIP

Louis H. Crawford, United States marshal, was at his office in the federal building again Thursday after a trip to San Francisco, where he took G. W. Shaw from Atlanta to California for trial on mail fraud charges.

Mr. Crawford was accompanied by Mrs. Crawford on the trip, and they spent a few days in San Francisco as the guests of federal officers in that city.

A Cross-section of Atlanta

If you could sit in the Fulton National for a week, you would see representative Atlanta passing in review. For Atlantans of every social and business level are among the Friends of Fulton.

We serve representatives of nearly every branch of Atlanta business. Men, women and children maintain their accounts here. Big concerns and little concerns come in for counsel and to transact their affairs.

And every one of them experiences the same friendly spirit which pervades all transactions between this bank and the Friends of Fulton. No matter is too small to receive the most thorough attention. No person is so humble that the bank is not prepared to render him its service to the fullest extent.

Service of that kind—expert, complete banking service, humanized, is the reason the Fulton National is Atlanta's fastest growing bank. You will appreciate it, too, when you become a Friend of Fulton.

Smith-Sheffield Wedding Plans Are of Interest to Atlantans

The announcement of the wedding plans of Miss Julia Smith, of Springfield, Mass., and Mallon J. Sheffield, of Springfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Sheffield, of Atlanta, is of interest to a large number of friends throughout Georgia. The marriage will be brilliantly solemnized Friday afternoon, October 28, at 5 o'clock, in the Christ Episcopal church at Springfield, to be followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Harvey Smith, at 75 Mulberry street, Springfield.

The bridesmaids will include a group of prominent society belles of Springfield, numbering Miss Allison Powers, Frances Meadows, Helen Leeds, Evelyn Smith, Miss Elizabeth Gifford, of Tarrytown, N. Y., and Miss Evelyn Sheffield, of Atlanta, the groom's cousin. Mrs. David Mills Moseley, of Longmeadow, Mass., will act as the matron of honor and Harold Sheffield, of Atlanta, the groom's brother, will be the best man. Little Misses Helen and Roslyn Smith, the bride's nieces, will be the flower girls. The ushers will include Lewis J. Powers, Jr., Charles G. Carter, Harris W. Baker, William S. Becken, Richard Bourne, all of Springfield; David Moseley, of Longmeadow, Mass.; James F. Smith and Rodney Smith, the bride's brothers.

After the reception Mr. Sheffield and his bride will leave for a wedding trip to Canada. They will return to Springfield November 7 to reside at 292 Union street. Mr. Sheffield is manager of the Springfield office of the Retail Credit company. He was graduated from the University of Georgia in the class of 1922 and is a member of the Sigma Chi fraternity.

Atlanta Shriners To Give Dance.

Atlanta Shriners will inaugurate the fall social activities with a formal dance at Druid Hills Golf club, Friday evening, under the auspices of Yaarab temple's dance committee, with Noble Marvyn Conway, chairman of the committee. The 1927 Shrine card must be shown at the door.

Miss Kuegle To Honor Miss Grietsinger.

Miss Stella Kuegle entertains informally at a bridge tea Friday afternoon at the quarters of her brother, Major Albert S. Kuegle, at Fort McPherson, in compliment to her guest, Miss Cordelia Grietsinger, of New Haven, Conn.

The second of the series of informal parties honoring Miss Grietsinger will be given by Miss Kuegle Monday afternoon, October 10, at Fort McPherson.

Tallahassee Committee To Be Honored Today.

The young matrons' committee of Tallahassee school, of which Mrs. Lawrence Willet is president, will be honored by Mrs. Joel Hurt and Mrs. Ewell Gay at a seated luncheon at 1:30 o'clock today at the home of Mrs. Hurt.

The guests will include Mesdames Willet, J. K. Ottley, Preston Arkwright, Sr., D. C. Black, Stuart Witham, James Ragan, George McCarty, Rembert Marshall and Edwin Peoples.

Mrs. Hurt and Mrs. Gay are the granddaughters of the late Mrs. M. A. Lipscomb, and it was when Mrs. Hurt was little Virginia Lipscomb and Mrs. Gay was little Adeline Ellis that these two little girls, while on a visit to their grandmother, Mrs. Lipscomb, at her summer home at Tallahassee, started this school, with a few little mountain girls and boys. These granddaughters were so interested in these children that they aroused the interest of their grandmother and Mrs. Lipscomb established what is now the Tallahassee school.

West End Club To Sponsor Dance.

Mrs. Z. T. Layfield, chairman of the Tallahassee work for the West End Woman's club, is planning a benefit dance this evening from 8 to 12 o'clock. The following committee will assist and serve as chaperons: Mesdames R. C. Blair, T. F. Cathcart, Luta Gene, Mary L. M. Albern and G. Frank Stewart.

Mrs. Lomax Heads New Gordon-Felton U. D. C. Chapter

Mrs. Walter E. Lomax was elected president of the Rebecca Felton chapter, U. D. C., at the meeting held Wednesday in Rich's tearoom. The other officers elected include Mesdames J. W. Hollingsworth, R. M. Armstrong, Mrs. E. R. W. Gunn, Mrs. Virginia Henderson and Mrs. J. E. Cauden.

An application to organize a new chapter was made by Mrs. Walter E. Lomax, Mrs. J. A. Beall and Mrs. J. W. Hollingsworth, of Fulton chapter, U. D. C., several weeks ago, and although the charter has not been granted, this was a preliminary meeting at which 55 members were enrolled, and the charter will be granted at an early date. Mrs. Oscar McKenzie, of Montezuma, president of the Georgia division, U. D. C., who came to Atlanta to assist in organizing this new chapter, was present and was made an honorary life member of the Gordon-Felton chapter.

The chapter was named for Mrs. Rebecca Felton, of Carterville. The meetings will be held in the clubhouse of the Kirkwood Civic league in the old Gordon home.

Texas Visitor Is Honored.

Dr. Minnie C. O'Brien-Mann, of San Antonio, Texas, who spent the weekend in Atlanta as the guest of her cousin, Dr. and Mrs. Omar F. Elder, at their home on Muscogee road, was the honor guest Tuesday, when Mrs. Elder entertained at luncheon at the Capital City club. Eight guests were invited to meet Dr. O'Brien, who left yesterday for New York, from which place she sails today on the Aquitania, for a visit with her mother, Mrs. O'Brien, in school in Leysin, Switzerland.

Jewish Women To Meet Sunday.

The Jewish Women's club, senior division, meets at the clubhouse at Washington and Clark streets, Sunday afternoon, October 9, at 3 o'clock. The following classes will be formed and registrations will be taken at this meeting: Golf instructor, Wallace Lindquist; swimming, Y. W. C. A.; arts and crafts and Jewish history. The entertainment feature for the meeting will be vocal solos by Miss Edith Moss, accompanied by Miss Lulu Clark King, well-known teacher of voice.

326th Officers

To Give Dance
October 14

The officers of the 326th infantry, organized reserves, will give an informal subscription dance at the Forrest Hill Country club, Decatur, Ga., Friday evening, October 14, to which all officers assigned and attached to the regiment are cordially invited.

Regimental headquarters are located at 215 Red Rock building. The delighted affair will inaugurate a series of dances with which the 326th infantry will entertain during the winter season. Plans are now being made for a dance celebrating Armistice day, November 11, and for another dance early in December.

Mrs. Oaks Weds G. T. Edmondson.

A marriage of interest to many friends was that of Mrs. Rebecca Oaks of East Point, to G. T. Edmondson, of Palmetto, Saturday evening, which was solemnized at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. M. E. Simpson, with Rev. E. W. Jones, of East Point, officiating. Only the immediate families and close friends were present.

The bride was attired in an attractive blue traveling suit with accessories to match. An informal reception was held afterwards. The bride and groom departed by motor for a trip to Daytona Beach, Fla.

Mrs. Walsh Announces D. A. R. Car Hostesses.

Mrs. Anna Bates Walsh, chairman of the committee for the entertainment of distinguished guests of the Joseph Haberman chapter of the D. A. R., announces that a large representation from the chapter will meet at Pershing Point Tuesday afternoon, October 11, at 4 o'clock to participate in the welcome given to Lindbergh. The following ladies have tendered their cars to be used in the parade: Mesdames Anne Bates Walsh, John A. Perdue, W. F. Dykes, J. C. Gentry, A. R. Colcord, Christian Clarke, A. P. Flowers, L. C. McKinnay, J. Lou Dubickworth, Charles Goodman, C. J. Kauffman and A. P. Treadwell.

Mrs. Irving Thomas invites members of the chapter to meet at her home, 1439 Peachtree street, at 4 o'clock to take part in the welcoming ceremonies.

TWO HOMES MADE HAPPY

By Women Who Used Lydia
E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I think it is the most wonderful medicine I have ever tried." is the statement made by Mrs. Goldie Shoup of St. Joseph, Illinois. She declares that after taking the Compound she is in better health than before.

Mrs. J. Storms writes: "I can not speak too highly of your medicine and I recommend it to all my friends."

These statements were taken from two enthusiastic letters which tell of the help that has been received from using the Vegetable Compound. Both Mrs. Shoup and Mrs. Storms were in a run-down condition which caused them much unhappiness. When women are suffering from lack of strength and from weakness, their own life and that of their family is affected. When they feel well and strong and are able to do their household easily, happy homes are the result.

Are you on the Sunlit Road to Better Health?

Mrs. Lester Honors Miss Martin At Lovely Bridge-Tea

Among the lovely pre-nuptial parties given in compliment to Miss Virginia Martin, a charming bride-elect of next week, was the bridge-tea at which Mrs. E. D. Lester was hostess Thursday at her home on Juniper street.

Invited to meet the bride-elect were Mrs. Bennett Martin, Mrs. W. B. Kee, Miss Lydia Wheeler, Mrs. A. H. Alston, Mrs. J. R. Vaughn, Miss Isolyne Barker, Mrs. George R. Hoyt, Miss Hazel Powell, Miss Lillian Smith, Mrs. Homer H. Parker, of Covington, Va.; Mrs. J. Willard Wren, of Clarkston, W. Va., and Mrs. W. H. Schaefer.

Two lovely affairs planned in Miss Martin's honor Friday include Mrs. A. H. Alston's bridge-luncheon and Miss Lydia Wheeler's bridge-tea.

European Visitor To Be Honored.

Mrs. Thornwell Jacobs will entertain a bridge-tea Tuesday, October 11, at her home in Ansley Park in honor of Mrs. T. J. Kaimon, of Rotterdam, Holland, who arrives Sunday to visit her sister, Mrs. Blanche Elrod.

Sixteen friends are invited to meet this interesting visitor.

Uncle Remus Association Met Last Tuesday.

"Uncle Remus Memorial Association" met Tuesday, October 4, at the "Wrens Nest," Mrs. Arthur McD. Wilson president, being out of the city. Mrs. E. L. Connolly, first vice president, presided. The outstanding feature of the meeting was the gift to the association of a sufficient number of portraits of Joel Chandler Harris to present to every public school in Atlanta. This generous gift was secured through the efforts of Mrs. George W. Bell, giving the Memorial association exclusive rights to use a poem written by her husband, the Rev. G. W. Bell, to Mr. Harris.

Resolutions of sympathy were expressed to Mrs. P. D. McCarley and Mrs. Joel Chandler Harris, Jr., owing to recent bereavements in their families.

Mr. and Mrs. Westmoreland Celebrate Golden Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Westmoreland, of Toccoa, Ga., will celebrate their wedding anniversary Friday, October 7, at the home of their daughter, Mrs. W. P. Edge, on Dewey street. A number of friends will call this afternoon to extend congratulations to this beloved couple. Mr. and Mrs. Westmoreland are prominent citizens of north Georgia and both enjoy the esteem and regard of countless friends.

Garden Hills Woman's Club Holds Meeting.

The Garden Hills Woman's club met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. T. C. Cox on Rumson road. Mrs. Jennifer Brown, first vice president, presided.

Resignations from the president, Mrs. W. H. Schaefer, and from Mrs. W. L. Ballenger, chairman of the ways and means committee, were read and respectfully accepted. Mrs. Jennifer Brown was elected president in place of Mrs. Schaefer. Mrs. M. R. Sutherland was appointed chairman of the ways and means committee. Mrs. Hardcastle of the Georgia Children's Home society made an appeal for the support of the community chest.

P. C. McDuffie, through Mrs. Jeter, offered the pavilion at the swimming pool for use as a club house, which was accepted and Mrs. Brown made chairman of the building committee. It is planned to begin work immediately, fitting up the pavilion as a meeting place. Mrs. Jeter was made chairman of a committee to plan a street carnival and Halloween fête to be held in Garden Hills at an early date.

New members reported since the September meeting are Mrs. W. C. Roberts, Mrs. J. J. Grace, Mrs. Phil Trimble, Mrs. W. A. Peters, Mrs. James L. Dickey, Sr., Mrs. George Knapp, Mrs. LeRoy Sergeant, Mrs. R. A. Heinsohn, Mrs. J. R. Garner and Mrs. J. L. Stephens.

Former Atlantan Weds Baltimore Girl In New York City

The marriage of Miss Mildred Caroline Waters, of Baltimore, to Dr. Charles Edgar Dean, formerly of Atlanta, Ga., now of New York city, will be of interest to many friends in the south. The marriage was solemnized on the afternoon of September 10 in New York city in the presence of a few close friends and relatives, Dr. David S. Muzzey officiating.

The bride was exquisitely gowned in white tulle with hat to match and carried a bouquet of pink roses and valley lilies. Miss Nancy Belieu, maid of honor, wore pink georgette and carried roses. James Duncan acted as best man. The wedding ceremony was followed by a reception at the Empire hotel.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Waters, of Baltimore; granddaughter of Somers Rawlings Waters, of Virginia, and closely related to Dr. Richard Waters, surgeon in the revolutionary war, whose monument stands at Gettysburg. She has a brilliant scholastic record, being an A. B. of Goucher college, an M. A. of Johns Hopkins university, where she was elected to the exclusive scientific society Sigma Xi.

Dr. Dean is the son of Mrs. Eloise Earle Dean and the late Charles Lewis Dean, prominent civil engineer and planner. He is a descendant of the first families of South Carolina, being a nephew of Paul Robinson Earle, prominent sportsman; Senator J. R. Earle, of Wall-halla, and Dr. C. E. Earle. He is a grandson of Augustus A. Dean and related to the Lewis and Clayton families. He is a brother of Dr. and Mrs. Donald Gordon Davidson, of West Chester, Pa. For two years he was physician of Johns Hopkins university and at present is engaged as writer and critic for the American Telephone & Telegraph company in New York city.

Faculty at Seminary To Give Recital.

Washington seminary faculty will sponsor a recital this evening at 10 o'clock, and those taking part on the program are: Margaret St. Battle, voice; Marguerite A. Cooper, piano and violin; Julia Oliver Eckford, piano; Laurence P. Everhart, piano; William B. Griffith, mandolin; Mrs. W. B. Griffith, harp, and Mrs. Merrill M. Hutchinson, expression.

St. Mark Circle Sponsors Cooking School.

Circle No. 11 of St. Mark's Methodist church will conduct a cooking school Wednesday and Thursday mornings, October 12 and 13, at the church, corner Peachtree and Fifth streets, beginning at 11 o'clock each morning.

Members of the circle cordially invite those interested to attend the cooking school and remain for the luncheons. Mrs. Frank Lamons is chairman of the circle.

Alpha Gamma Deltas To Meet Saturday.

The alumnae chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta meets with Miss Bessey Allen, 547 Church street, Decatur, Saturday, October 8, at 3 o'clock.

The officers for the coming year are as follows: Miss Agnes Allen, president; Miss Sophia Horne, first vice president; Mrs. Clyde M. Wood, second vice president; Mrs. V. L. Blair, secretary; Miss Clara Bright, treasurer; Miss Laurie Linthicum, editor.

SOCIAL ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. William W. Banks, of Miami, Fla., formerly of Atlanta, are spending some time in New York and are making their home at the Robert Fulton hotel.

Mrs. J. Willard Wren, of Clarkston, W. Va., and Mrs. Homer H. Parker, of Covington, Va., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Martin at their home on North Ivy road. They will be among the out-of-town guests attending the Martin-Stokes wedding Tuesday evening.

Kirkwood Civic League Hears Representatives.

The legislative department of the Kirkwood Civic league sponsored a program Tuesday with Representatives John W. Waters, of Georgia, and Mr. DeKalb county, as speakers.

Mr. DeKalb spoke on the subject of merging the offices of the tax collector and the tax receiver of DeKalb county, a bill having been passed to that effect by the 1927 legislature. Mr. Waters also gave a brief outline of the county commission, or county manager plan, passed by the 1922 legislature, and his amendment to that bill passed by the last legislature.

Both of these bills are of special interest at this time as they will be voted on at the election in November.

Mrs. H. G. Parks, legislative chairman for the league, gave the number of new laws passed by the 1927 legislature, citing several of interest and stated the low rating of Georgia in educational advancement. Arrangements were formulated for the annual bazaar to be held the first Saturday in December.

Many features will be introduced, notably the dollar festival planned by the president, Mrs. A. L. Brannan.

The report of the four vice presidents showed an increase of several new families in the community and a few houses for rent. Mrs. Kate Green Hess' reports on the upkeep of the park spaces on the Georgia railroad are encouraging and she commented on the beautifying of the Georgia railroad crossing, which is the north side entrance to Kirkwood on the Dixie highway.

Miss Zulu Foster and Rev. Bernard Owens contributed a vocal number at the close of the meeting. Several names were added to the list of members.

Moines, will leave Friday for New Orleans for several days before sailing for Havana, Cuba, where they will spend two weeks at the Sevilla Biltmore.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank K. Boland and Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Black, Sr., left Thursday for New Haven, Conn., to attend the Georgia-Yale football game next Saturday.

Miss Marguerite Lorick, of Asheville, N. C., is the guest of Miss Grace Milliken at her home on Peachtree street.

Mrs. Albert J. Woodruff left Wednesday for Navasota, Texas, to visit her daughter, Miss Mary Belle Woodruff. They will be joined later by Mr. Woodruff at Dallas, where they will attend the national convention of railroad and public utility commissioners. Miss Woodruff will give several readings at the convention.

Emmett Bradley Collins returned to Broomfield last Tuesday after a visit to his mother.

Dr. Omar F. Elder returned Thursday from a visit to Miami, Fla.

Miss Cordelia Grietsinger, of New Haven, Conn., is visiting Miss Stella Kuegle at Fort McPherson.

To Make Your Home a Place of Joy and Harmony

There are some houses you visit where you feel instantly at home. There is an air of comfort and cheer about them. They are not necessarily rich and elaborate. They may be simple and even shabby. But there are comfortable old chairs for you to sink into—and it doesn't matter if you spill ashes on the floor. And the folks who live there are always glad to see you. They welcome you with their own cheery graciousness—and no matter when you drop in, they always offer you a welcome cup of RIDGWAYS deliciously fragrant tea to cheer and refresh you.

No wonder you feel at home there! No wonder being there always puts you in a mood of good-fellowship and genial camaraderie! RIDGWAYS TEA does that for you. It warms you so that you feel relaxed and at harmony with yourself. It invigorates you so that you feel friendly and in harmony with others.

To make your home a place of joy and harmony, begin by putting your guests and your family, too, in a happy frame of mind by refreshing them with the always welcome cup of RIDGWAYS fragrant, full-bodied tea.

BREAKS WINDOW OF POST OFFICE TO GET IN JAIL

BY BEN COOPER.

George Washington used his hatchet to break into the white house and Lawrence Aber swung a wicked crutch to land in jail. But outside of the fact that neither man would tell a lie about the mischief performed, the similarity ceases. George became president, but Lawrence wants to leave the country for good and all, or so he told United States Commissioner L. S. Ledbetter Thursday afternoon.

Aber's case is now under investigation by the immigration authorities, but Lawrence was not exactly satisfied by the progress made, so he fancied that an attack on the government would rather speed things up a bit, as he wants to get back to dear old England. Y' see, Lawrence claims that he is a British subject and is seeking deportation. So, as the nearest thing he could find to represent the government here was the postoffice, he took a crack at a general delivery glass window.

Commissioner Ledbetter complied with Aber's request that he be remanded to jail and held the war veteran under $500 bond for the federal grand jury under a charge of malicious mischief by defacing public property.

This apparently satisfied Aber, for he told Judge Ledbetter, if released, he meant to keep breaking up the government's property until Uncle Sam either sent him home to England, or put him in jail.

The defendant claimed that he was "deported into the United States from Panama," and has been trying to get back to British soil ever since. He said that he came to America 20 years ago, has traveled all over the world and has been convicted of crime three times.

"TIGER" FLOWERS RUNS OVER CHILD, ARRESTED IN VA.

Harrisonburg, Va., October 6.—(AP) Tiger Flowers, Atlanta negro and former middleweight boxing champion, was arrested here late today on a charge of running over Logan, 4-year-old son of John Logan, of Harrisonburg. The boy's legs were crushed and when taken to a hospital he was spitting up blood, indicating internal injuries of a possible serious nature.

Flowers, accompanied by two negro women, was en route from Atlanta to New York when the accident occurred. He was following another car and claims that the boy ran from behind a parked automobile, and that he did not see him until the car was upon him. Flowers' car was fixed at $5,000 and late this afternoon he was trying to get in touch with his manager, Miller. Flowers retained former Mayor John W. Morrison as his attorney.

WILBUR APPROVES FLIER'S SENTENCE FOR FLYING LOW

Washington, October 6.—(AP)—Secretary Wilbur has approved the court martial sentence of a reduction of five numbers in the promotion list for Lieutenant (junior grade) Thomas B. Williamson, fighting plane squadron No. 5, Norfolk, naval base, found guilty of flying low over this city in violation of naval regulations. It is understood that the court recommended a greater loss of numbers for the aviator, but that Wilbur pared this down to five.

Field Minstrels Pleasing But Below Old Standard

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

Normally was restored in Atlanta Thursday night with the Al G. Field Minstrels playing this city during the Southeastern fair week with the world series in progress, the first time this time-honored trio has been enjoyed simultaneously for about three years, and the Field organization opened the new season at the Erlanger theater, not with any particular auspiciousness, but seemingly with satisfaction as far as the applause of a fair-sized audience concerned.

Many glorious stage traditions are wrapped around the name of Al G. Field, and for more than a third of a century that mystery show-clothes brought every year an organization of singers, dancers and comedians whipped together under intelligent direction to the point where they always provided an evening of rare diversion and nearly always succeeded in packing the house to capacity. As much can hardly be said for the version appearing under the Field banner this season, but it can be stated with accuracy that the show pleased Thursday night.

True, the show apparently pleased Thursday night, but as far as being a show that will compare in any way with the grand old shows of former days it is rather weak. At a $2.20

Infantile Paralysis Victims Are Urged Fully Isolated

Chicago, October 6.—(United News.)—Complete and immediate isolation of children infected with or exposed to infantile paralysis is urged by Dr. Morris Fishbein, secretary of the American Medical association, as the only method of controlling the malady which is now unusually prevalent.

"Fears of the public over extensive outbreaks of infantile paralysis resulting in many communities are well warranted," Dr. Fishbein said in a statement Thursday. "The disease has left thousands of cripples and has been fatal in many instances. Research has shown unmistakably, however, that the disease is contagious and isolation of carriers and infected persons will prevent its spread," the physician said.

KILLING JUSTIFIED, SAYS GEORGE REMUS

seems to me that you also would have planned your getaway."

"Your young excuses you for the question you have asked," replied Remus. "When you have become more matured and have attained a ripe age you will understand the circumstances would reason differently. Why should I go about the country as a fugitive from justice—a man with a price on his head? If you have a clear conscience, you have nothing to fear and consequently why should I run away? A man who feels that he has performed a duty to society and that he has committed no moral wrong, would not run away from the consequences of his act, but would do just as I have done."

Urbane throughout the interview, he readily replied to every question put to him. Although Remus stated that he had only $36 when he left the Atlanta prison after serving the term imposed upon him in federal court for violating the prohibition law, and that he had no money, he was not apparently did not inflame him as much as his wife's alleged association with "an officer of the government, sworn to uphold the law, who associated with him seeking by every means to get me."

Asked if he had attempted to effect a reconciliation with his wife, Remus said: "How could I? No sane man could."

MRS. REMUS' DEATH END DIVORCE SUIT.

Cincinnati, Ohio, October 6.—(United News.)—Mrs. George Remus, thick-bodied, strong man, famous the country over as the "millionaire boot-legger," shot and killed his wife, Imogene Holmes Remus, today as a forced principle.

Remus' avenging pistol forced America's new millionaire underworld to the attention of old-fashioned civilization. He brought to light a story that in other days might have had a setting of back alleys and cheap saloons instead of limousines, expensive hotels and grand pianos.

For Remus, despite his $5,000,000 in the bank, his excellent tailoring, his fondness for banqueting his friends and his boasted personal abstemiousness, is not a man to be crossed.

Sudden Diamonds. Especially is he not a man to be double-crossed by the woman he dresses in sales and a prohibition "snooper"—as liquor racketeers call revenue men—while he was "doing a rap" in a federal penitentiary. Remus brooded behind the bars on the unfaithfulness of women who suddenly wear diamonds.

He surrendered himself to the police immediately after the shooting with a statement that will be understood from the Barbary coast to the Brooklyn waterfront.

"I am a man of principle, despite what people may say about me," said Remus. "I never smoked, drank nor swore in my life."

"Do you think I am going to let that Franklin Dodge get away with it?"

Didn't Trust Law. Dodge is a former department of justice agent named as correspondent by the underworld in a divorce petition. The divorce hearing was scheduled to take place within a few hours. Remus did not trust the slow, awkward grinding of the law.

He knows it well. He has related modestly how he ran up $10,000 into more than $5,000,000 on the theory that "every man has his price."

And Remus thought he had been so sentimental as to entrust with a woman $1,000,000 of the nest egg that was to clean up his affairs with the law and establish him respectably the rest of his life.

Like Melodrama. The last act in the real-life melodrama took place soon after Mrs. Remus and her 19-year-old daughter, Ruth, entered a taxicab in front of their hotel to visit Mrs. Remus' lawyer. Their route lay through Eden Park.

Hardly had the brightly painted taxi started through the park when a large, expensive and somberly tinted touring car edged alongside. The big automobile crowded the taxi toward the edge of the road. Mistaking and resenting the menacing movement, the taxi-driver cursed and spunkily opened the throttle. Then a traffic signal halted him.

Mrs. Remus had recognized one of the two men in the big car. She read the scene as plainly as if it had been written on the back of the driver's seat. When she saw Remus jump from the following automobile, she shoved her daughter down in the cab, leaped out and ran.

Remus overlooked the fleeing woman top it does not compare with the old "best show in the world for a dollar" offered by Al G. Field himself.

In the first part there is one pretty ballad number and that is none other than "Silver Threads Among the Gold," sung by Harry Newland, Emmett Miller, a blackface comedian with a trick voice, was the one bright and shining star of the evening. His work in the first part, his gags and song saved the first part. His specialty with Phil Pavey in some real close harmony singing, was another real number. And his comedy in the last burlesque was as funny as anything seen here in recent years. Miller enjoyed the support of Drane Walters, who at times did some clever work. The veteran Leslie Berry presided as interlocutor in the first part with his usual grace. The scenery and costumes were not of a kind to heart up the audience to any wild pitch of enthusiasm while the ensemble numbers were no better or no worse than could be provided by almost any college glee club after a week's rehearsal.

It is a tribute to the power of minstrelsy to entertain to say that under these conditions the show apparently pleased the crowd Wednesday night. The people applauded the singers, laughed at the time-worn jokes and sometimes seemed to enjoy the show thoroughly.

who had once been his sweetheart. He read her death sentence in 30 staccato unprintable words while he ran. Then his hand came out of his coat pocket, a dozen persons heard the sharp sound of an automobile backfiring, and Mrs. Remus fell in the roadway.

Dies in Hospital.

She died in a hospital three hours later of a bullet wound in the breast.

"He acted like a madman," Remus' daughter said, describing the shooting. "He called her vile names and shot her."

Remus' fastidiously dressed young daughter referred to her father as "Mr. Remus."

The harp's quarrel with his wife began several years ago when the federal government started out in earnest to "get" him.

At that time he was worth about $5,000,000. Three thousand persons were in his employ. His business territory included eight states from New York to the Missouri river and from the Great Lakes to the stretches of the lower Ohio river valley.

Gave No Lifts.

By night and in open day, caravans of tarpaulin-covered trucks, sawed-off shotguns behind their drivers' seats, threaded the highways of this territory, giving no "lifts" to hitchhikers. They were Remus's, the men who drove them were Remus's, the men who loaded their loads were Remus's, and the men who winked at the procedure were no less Remus's.

Even many of the drug stores that peddled the illicit booze were Remus's. He bought strings of them and made his own markets. He purchased manufacturing firms that required alcohol for legitimate purposes and diverted it to gin factories. As a crowning achievement, he bought entire warehouses filled with whisky and kept under close government bond.

For nearly three years Remus was able to bribe every man who stood in his way. He was indicted, tried and spent $1,500,000 defending himself. But he had $5,000,000 salted away—part of it with his wife and friends, who he since charged cheated him of the money while he was helpless in jail.

From 1924 until last April the baron was imprisoned in various jails in Atlanta and in the Portsmouth prison.

"I'll collect every penny of it," said Remus when he came out.

REMUS PLANNED TO LEAD NEW LIFE

tion had been given him, contained the following:

"Happy? Of course, I am happy. Who wouldn't be after having spent some 20 months behind those gray walls and being waltzed all the way from Athens, Ga., to the 'hole'? The hole referred to was where he was sent for John W. Snook soon after the prisoner was returned from Athens. Remus was sent to Athens with another group of prisoners for protection against other inmates of the institution who, it was claimed, planned to kill them because they testified for the law."

Today, George Remus is held without bail in Hamilton county jail, Cincinnati, on a charge of murder, a sharp contrast to the life of sobriety he announced he would live.

Bitterly he blames Mrs. Remus and Dodge, former special investigator of the department of justice. He named Dodge in a counter divorce action filed after the suit which Mrs. Remus had filed against him had materialized.

With the terse comment, "I couldn't let her get away with what she was trying," the millionaire surrendered to officials shortly after the dramatic killing in Eden park.

the government in the prison bribe plot trials of Sartain, Fletcher and Reihl.

"The first outstanding thought in my heart at this time is that of joy, which comes from being reunited with my family and heartfelt gratitude for the great devotion and constant loyalty and consideration of my dear wife and small coterie of friends."

Hears of Conspiracy.

Remus claimed he learned of his wife's infidelity later, and filed his cross bill seeking a divorce. He charged that Mrs. Remus and Dodge entered into a conspiracy to keep him in prison, while they spent the large sums of money he had amassed previous to his term in the Atlanta institution.

Holding to the theory that every man "has his price," George is said to have spent more than $20,000,000 in bribing high officials of the government so that he might ply his trade with immunity of the law. He thus became closely associated with many political races.

Several months before his release from prison, he handed to local and national press representatives a signed statement in which he repudiated his testimony before the senate committee investigating Daugherty. He said his testimony had been false, but that he furnished the testimony he made on "instructions" that if he "came through" he never would be sent to prison.

Issues Statement.

The statement was issued a few days before Senator Burton K. Wheeler, of Montana, was to face the polls for election. It charged high officials of the government with bribery, accepting bribes and with knowledge of his illegal liquor withdrawals.

Belief that the statement was libelous, unprivileged and politically colored in an effort to defeat Wheeler, caused some newspapers and one of the press associations to refuse to print it. One of Remus' first acts after being released from the prison was to disclaim the reputation of his testimony at the Daugherty hearing. He declared his statement given at the penitentiary was intended to affect adversely the Wheeler election and react favorably towards the outcome of the Daugherty trial in New York. He stated the testimony he gave the senate committee was the truth on leaving the prison.

All Plans Fail.

Today, George Remus is held without bail in Hamilton county jail, Cincinnati, on a charge of murder, a sharp contrast to the life of sobriety he announced he would live.

Bitterly he blames Mrs. Remus and Dodge, former special investigator of the department of justice. He named Dodge in a counter divorce action filed after the suit which Mrs. Remus had filed against him had materialized.

With the terse comment, "I couldn't let her get away with what she was trying," the millionaire surrendered to officials shortly after the dramatic killing in Eden park.

her to secure a divorce on the eve of his release, was hardened.

Dodge Is Blamed.

Dodge was blamed for having sent Remus to the penitentiary here, and his friendship with Mrs. Remus and her millionaire lawyer husband was generally known.

During the trial of Albert E. Sartain, former warden of the federal prison here, and his deputy, Looney J. Fletcher, Mrs. Remus occupied a palatial suite at the Atlanta Biltmore hotel, and Dodge frequently was entertained by her, according to charges of the husband. The "entertainments" took place during conferences regarding the government's case, for which both Mrs. Remus and Remus had been summoned by the United States.

Mrs. Remus was a frequent visitor to Atlanta. Neither she nor Remus was placed on the witness stand, and Mr. Remus was quoted in the press as having stated there were no soft jobs at the prison, which the officials were charged with having "sold" to wealthy inmates in a gigantic "shake-down" scheme.

Millions in Legal Fight.

Charges of intimacy between Dodge and his wife were filed by Remus shortly after he left the Atlanta prison and before he began a term at Scioto county jail at Portsmouth. It is said that Remus spent at least $1,000,000 in a vain effort to escape the prison terms to which he was sentenced following his conviction of a series of violations of the dry laws.

The famous bootlegger was one of the most picturesque inmates the Atlanta prison ever housed. He conducted himself as a model prisoner, before the Sartain-Fletcher trial was said to have enjoyed many privileges never allotted to the "ordinary prisoner."

Officials of the institution denied this, and although Sartain is now serving 18 months following his conviction on the charges of "conspiring to accept bribes," the government never was able to convict Fletcher, Lawrence (Heinie) Reihl, Sartain's friend, who also was convicted, was sentenced to serve 12 months. Mrs. Remus, a small, pretty brunette, visited Atlanta many times, but tried to avoid publicity. She shunned reporters and was interviewed only by buses.

Her daughter, Ruth, who was with her mother at the time of the fatal shooting, always was kept in the background and never was accorded any publicity.

Remus avowed to the very last day of his sentence his love for his wife and Ruth, and released a formally prepared statement to the press on the day of his release in which he expressed gratification at being "able to return again to the bosom of the best and most lovable family in the world."

In firing the shot Thursday morning, Remus ended the divorce suit but gained a new entree into the courts, this time on a charge of murder. With the threat of the electric chair standing over him, he probably will have ample time to consider his announcement of a tour of the country speaking on the subject "Does Crime Pay?" an intention he never put into execution.

SYNOPSIS.

On the way to Donald Brierly's house at Rubington for luncheon, Connie Elmore, Donald's fiancée, tells friend Olive Weston that Donald stands a chance of inheriting half a million from the estate of old Harrowby, a friend of Donald's father.

Olive and Connie share a flat in London. Olive is secretly in love with Donald but sincerely pleased at Connie's good fortune in winning him.

Saddle and Querk, solicitors handling the Harrowby estate, are crooked and plot to cheat Donald Brierly of the fortune by having a spurious heir appear whose claim is prior to Donald's. In the midst of the plotting Augustus Brierly, Donald's father, presumed to have died on the Titanic, calls on Saddle. Querk suggests to Saddle that he invite Brierly to Harrowby house and there with the assistance of Querk's tool, Wode, dispose of Brierly.

Connie decides to visit her old nurse, who is now caretaker of Harrowby house. Mrs. Jones is out but Connie finds the key and lets herself in to wait for her. She hears strange noises in the library and going to investigate she sees Saddle and another man kill Mr. Brierly, whom she recognizes from his portrait. Rushing out of the house Connie stumbles into Mr. Querk. While telling her story Querk pushes the bell and sends a signal to the murderers. Connie sees a policeman and calling him the three proceed to the library and Connie asks Querk to open the secret panel in the wall where she had seen the men place the body. It is empty. Querk accompanies her to the police station where she tells her story to the police superintendent. Querk intimates that she imagined the scene, and in exasperation Connie goes to see Olive, who believes her story.

Querk requests Saddle to come to the superintendent's office and he presents his alibi, which the police officer accepts. The two lawyers proceed to Wode's office, where old man Wode and his son, the spurious heir, await them. The old man dies just after they would enter the office.

The next morning Connie calls on Querk and meets young Jones there. She recognizes him as her old nurse's son, but does not know that he has been posing as Henry Turtel. Mr. Querk later pretends that Connie imagined she saw young Jones. He tells Olive that Saddle is about to bring criminal suit against Connie unless Olive, as her nearest friend, has her committed to a private institution which he recommends. While Donald is visiting Connie at Maenton house a body is found buried in his garden. Olive, sent out on the case by her newspaper, meets and warns Donald and pleads with him to hide until the real murderers are uncovered.

INSTALLMENT XLVII.

THE HUNT IS ON.

Olive, moved by the kindness of Carthew's tone, looked up.

"Look here, laddie, I haven't time to talk. Cut out all the firing stuff, go and sit on the Old Man's lap and stroke his beard and tell him that I can't help Kershaw turning in a dud story, but I've got him an 'exclusive'."

"You? How? What? I put you on a small descriptive."

Then, caricaturing her own voice as well as Carthew's, she burst into an ironic explanation.

"And I put myself on a Ford, smashed the Ford and got an 'exclusive,'" said Olive. "Does Kershaw know where Brierly was this afternoon? No, Miss Weston. Do you, Miss Weston? Yes, Mr. Carthew. The murderer, Brierly, was at Maenton house private asylum, visiting his fiancée. He left Maenton house at 5 o'clock on his motorcycle. He got the windup on the way home—and if you get me an ordnance map I'll show you just where he left his motorcycle in a ditch. 'Clever girl—how did you find that out?' 'By tracking the tires, please sir,' she answered demurely.

Carthew guffawed. He thought she was in the very height of good spirits. Then with sudden seriousness, he asked:

"I say, are you dead sure that's all right?"

"Send Mr. Star-reporter Kershaw to find the motorcycle," answered Olive. "Now run away and cut yourself a piece of cake."

For the better part of an hour Olive wrote steadily at high speed. There was a character sketch of Donald and his early history—a brief allusion to his fiancée suffering from nervous breakdown, a long description of Maenton house and grounds, ending with the murderer's journey from Maenton house as deduced by the reporter who followed the tire tracks to a little lane off the Kinner road.

There were two definitely "exclusive" points—the lifeblood of a competitive newspaper—the manner in which Brierly had spent his day and the actual whereabouts of the motorcycle. The police would find the bicycle and the Record would get the credit.

Long before she had finished writing, Carthew, reading sections of her story, was chuckling with delight.

"One in the eye for Kershaw!" he muttered. "Chucking his weight about here!"

As soon as she had finished writing her story, she was summoned to Carthew's private room. Standing by Carthew was Detective Inspector Rason.

"Miss Weston, this is Detective Inspector Rason—O, you know him. I see—Well, we want you to show him on the map exactly where that motorcycle is."

Olive nodded.

"One minute, Mr. Rason!" interposed Carthew who was about to speak. "You promise to go after that bike from here in a car which we will supply by the route our fellow will drive—otherwise you will be followed by rival reporters and we want this for an 'exclusive'—it's ours."

"We won't queer your pitch, Mr."

plus an extra $500.00 which you can win by being PROMPT. That means you must fill out the coupon and mail it TODAY.

EVERY MAN, WOMAN AND CHILD

who is old enough to read and strong enough to use a pencil has a chance to get in on the Big Prize Money. You don't have to be clever; but if you are wise, so much the better. If you are WISE, you'll get busy immediately. TWO of the eighteen airplanes and ONLY TWO are alike. If you are bright enough to find them, you are quite capable of winning $3,500.00.

THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION

offers an opportunity at this tremendous fortune to every man, woman and child—Join in the fascinating airplane Treasure Hunt—

Share In $7,500.00 Cash Prizes

Find the TWO airplanes that are exact duplicates. At first glance they all look alike; but upon closer examination you will see that almost every one differs in some way from all the others. The difference may be in the stripes on the tail; while some have white radiators and others black. How about their propellers? They aren't all alike, are they? And the stars on the wings are arranged in different ways, too—a black with a white, two whites, or two black ones, and so on.

Make sure you have found the TWO airplanes that are exact duplicates, then send in your answer. Someone who finds the right airplanes is going to win a lot of money. Make that "someone" be YOU!

CASH FIRST PRIZE, $3,000.00

Extra First Prize for Promptness, $500.00

You Can Win $3,500.00

Here's another great array of Cash Prizes offered by The Atlanta Constitution. That's what it is, folks—and you can be a winner. The prizes range from $1 to $35, and from $35 to $3,000.00, also an EXTRA FIRST PRIZE of $500.00 for Promptness. Yes, sir, YOU CAN WIN AS MUCH AS $3,500.00.

Think of it! A First Prize of $3,500.00. In all, $7,500.00 in Cash Prizes may be won in this interesting puzzle contest. The contest closes December 1st, and all prizes will be awarded in time to reach the winners by Christmas day. There will be 50 winners and the First Prize, the golden opportunity, is $3,000.00 plus $500.00, making a grand total of $3,500.00—IF YOU ACT QUICKLY.

If there is a tie for any prize, the full amount of the prize will be paid to each person so tied.

500 POINTS wins First Prize. We will give you 450 points for finding the TWO airplanes that are exactly alike. Promptly upon receipt of your answer, we will send you particulars of a magic word game, in which, if successful, you earn the final 50 points to win a $3,500.00 Cash Prize or one of the 49 other Cash Prizes.

Easy Rules

Any man, woman, boy or girl living in Georgia or adjoining states, who is not an employee of the Atlanta Constitution or a member of an employee's family, may submit an answer.

When you have made your selection of the TWO airplanes that are exactly alike send in your answer. Study the pictures—Remember there are only two airplane pictures that are duplicates.

When you have found them, write the numbers in the coupon opposite, fill in your name and complete address and mail at once to the Puzzle Manager, The Atlanta Constitution. Promptness will mean a lot to you in this puzzle game.

If there is a tie for any prize, the full amount of the prize will be paid to each person so tied.

The whole family may cooperate in this competition, but only one prize will be awarded to any one household; nor will prizes be awarded to more than one of any group outside the family, where two or more have been working together.

There will be three independent judges, having no connection with The Constitution, who will judge the answers submitted and award the prizes in this competition. Participants by sending in their answer agree to accept the decision of the judges as final and conclusive.

BANCITALY DROPS

New York, October 6.—(AP)—Rising prices again were in force in the currency market today after two days of de-

Paradoxically, the individual feature of the day was heavy selling of Bancitaly, which declined more than 3 points following warning by President L. W. Giannini earlier in the speculation in the stock. The issue, stimulated by various rumors, had risen from a year's low of 80 7/8 to a high of 122. Today's close was just above 114.

Pools again interested themselves in Stutz motors and Johns Manville, both of which sold at new peaks

New peaks for the year or longer were established by a number of stocks, including Borden company, Fajardo Sugar, Procter & Gamble, and Union Pacific.
